B.C. Received Unfair Treatment At Ottawa Says Premier Bennett

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today accused the federal government of singling out British Columbia for unfair treatment at last week's Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa.

"I regret to have to say that British Columbia is very disappointed in the outcome of the deliberations," said the premier.

"Our delegation felt B.C. was being unfairly dealt with—we were singled out. The federal government wants to take away from us that position we now hold."

The premier was referring to the fact that B.C. is now getting preferential treatment under the existing tax rental agreements.

This is the result of B.C.'s early entry into the fields of personal and corporation income taxes.

Premier Bennett said the income-tax fields "are more valuable to B.C. than to any other province, because of its terrain, and climate, which by their nature increase social services costs, and other government expenditures."

"That principle has been recognized in all agreements," said Premier Bennett.

"The federal government told us that the rentals they gave us five years ago, they are not prepared to give now. They said the deal they made with John Hart, (former B.C. premier), was a mistake."

The premier said that the federal proposals would give Quebec "from federal taxes collected all over Canada, a subsidy of $40,000,000 more than it gets now, without increasing its tax rates."

"B.C. would lose about $7,000,000," said Premier Bennett.

"It was a most unsound proposal."

PALACE ANNOUNCEMENT ON PRINCESS SOON?

LONDON (UP)—A Palace announcement on the rumored romance between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend is expected sometime this week, sources said today.

The announcement was expected this week. But it was announced Monday that the Queen had decided to remain in Scotland for a few more days.

Margaret, meanwhile, will arrive in London Thursday from Scotland. Townsend was due to arrive in England Wednesday to start a home leave from his post as air attaché in the embassy at Brussels. (See also Page 3).

'Pay-off' Allegation Renewed at Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—A grey-haired detective-sergeant, with a clean record of 50 years of police work in his family, testified today that "a lot of men would have to be in on it" to justify a $38,000 payoff to a police chief.

Det.-Sgt. Bob Leatherdale returned to the witness stand as the Tupper royal commission into police affairs opened its 31st sitting. He was cross-examined by John G. (Jay) Gould, counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan, on evidence given five days ago by Helen Elizabeth Douglas, who said that the chief told her in 1949 that he had received $38,000 in payoff money from gamblers.

The sergeant said there was a great deal of money around in gambling circles five years ago and that he had raided cigar stands which had $2,000 on the premises.

Sgt. Leatherdale testified under cross-examination that he was unsure of what was going on when, he said, Chief Mulligan approached him with a scheme for setting up a payoff system in the bootlegging underworld.

He said he was certain "something was wrong" when the chief's proposition was followed up by Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert, who gave him details of how such a payoff was worked on the gambling squad.

"Until Cuthbert came to me, I didn't know what the chief was driving at," Sgt. Leatherdale said.

In his earlier testimony the sergeant said the police chief had offered to promote him to sergeant in charge of the liquor squad if he would help establish a payoff scheme.

Cross-examining him regarding the Cuthbert interview, Mr. Gould said:

"Then you put the two things together and you said 'that's all I need to know'."

"Yes," Sgt. Leatherdale said. Commissioner Tupper adjourned the hearings until 11 a.m. Wednesday after testimony by Leatherdale and three others. Two of the other witnesses testified in connection with the theft of a piggy bank from an apartment. It had been alleged earlier that Mulligan, then a detective, stole the piggy bank while investigating the robbery. Neither of the witnesses could link Mulligan with the disappearance of the piggy bank.

"The principle has been recognized in all agreements," said Premier Bennett.

"The federal government told us that the rentals they gave us five years ago, they are not prepared to give now. They said the deal they made with John Hart, (former B.C. premier), was a mistake."

The premier said that the federal proposals would give Quebec "from federal taxes collected all over Canada, a subsidy of $40,000,000 more than it gets now, without increasing its tax rates."

"B.C. would lose about $7,000,000," said Premier Bennett.

"It was a most unsound proposal."

Watched Partner Die In D.E.W. Line Ordeal On Tiny Arctic Lake

By STAN McCABE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Rescuers say a flier who huddled for 10 days on a nearly-submerged airplane wing in a Northwest Territories lake was found in the nick of time.

Gerhardt (Jerry) Lozie, 27-year-old co-pilot of the four-engine Associated Airways York ditched in the lake, was flown here Monday night from Beaverlodge, Sask. He was rushed to hospital.

Relatives gave him an emotional welcome but Lozie, who suffered from exposure of his hands and feet, only murmured replies.

The pilot of the York, Capt. Joseph Cermak, 40, died while Lozie was awaiting rescue. Cermak's family lives in Northern Ireland.

Vern Simmonds, Associated Airways pilot of the DC-3 which located the plane missing since Sept. 29, said: "It was a grim do, I'll tell you. I don't know how that guy survived."

Lozie told Simmonds he did not think he could have survived another of the bitterly cold nights. He had no heat or food for 10 days and had been

SUGAR LUMPS FIRST FOOD IN 10 DAYS

EDMONTON (CP)—A couple of lumps of sugar put inadvertently into a geologist's pocket gave some nutrition to a flier who was marooned for 10 days without food on a small lake in the Northwest Territories.

Alex Labouinsky, one of three American geologists who rescued Gerhardt (Jerry) Lozie, 27, said he put the sugar in his pocket absent-mindedly, or "perhaps it was an act of Providence."

immersed in the icy water several times.

"If we had missed him that trip he wouldn't be alive today," Simmonds said.

Lozie told him the plane crash-landed at 10:10 p.m., Sept. 29, and Cermak died about 11:30 p.m., Oct. 1.

Went Back to Save Trapped Pilot

"Jerry said the plane hit once and bounced and landed pretty hard the second time," Simmonds said. "Jerry said water flew everywhere. Before they stopped there was already water in the cockpit. He scrambled up to the hatches they had opened, and Cermak was not behind him. He went back and Joe said he couldn't get out. Jerry got him loose. By this time they were both under water. They got out the astro-hatch."

"Before they ditched they had stacked all their emergency equipment by the escape hatch. The water came in so fast all they had time to do was get out. Both of them got soaking wet before they were able to get out."

"Friday (the day after the crash), Lozie tried to locate the rations or the sleeping bags. As soon as he got two or three feet under water it was too cold and he had to come out. He got under a couple of times."

Simmonds said Lozie told him that during the day it was quite warm on the side of the extended flap, which projected southward from the wing of the plane which was headed into the water at a 60-degree angle. But at night the cold was "unbearable."

The search pilot said Lozie told him it was about 15 minutes before he expected to arrive at Yellowknife on the return leg of a flight from a northern radar site that the men on the plane realized they were off course. When Cermak ditched the plane, there was about 20 minutes fuel supply left.

Wing's Edge 3 Feet Under Water

Three of the men who were aboard the rescue plane also told the story of Lozie's ordeal when they arrived here Monday. They are engineers Lloyd L. Wartes and Alex Labouinsky of New York City and Paul Dawson of Billings, Mont.

"We were flying from Stark Lake to Uranium City when we picked up a radio message from Yellowknife saying the plane had been spotted by an Associated Airways DC-3," said Mr. Wartes.

"We were only 20 minutes flying time away."

Approaching from the north, the rescuers were guided to the downed four-engine York by two DC-3s that were circling. "It was a very shallow lake," said Wartes. "One reason it was so hard to spot was that coming from the south, only the trailing edge of the wing would be visible. The leading edge was probably three feet under water. As far as we could tell the motors had been torn off on impact and the front end of the wing had been torn from the fuselage."

"With the wing at an angle of about 45 degrees, the fully-extended flap was horizontal."

"Jerry was sitting on the flap, where he had apparently spent most of the time for the last 10 days. It was about 22 inches wide and 10 to 12 feet long. If the flap had not been extended he probably could not have survived."

Dawson, who spent more than two weeks on a raft in the Pacific after the sinking of the U.S. cruiser Indianapolis in 1945, said "The greatest tribute you can pay to that boy is to say how he took care of his buddy. You've got to give him all the credit in the world for that."

Dawson said he had felt Lozie's legs through his clothing and the calves were hard as rock.

Lozie told his rescuers he kept telling Cermak that they should turn back after they left an Arctic radar base. The co-pilot added that Cermak said he would do the navigating. He quoted the pilot as saying "we can make it."

Dawson said "they apparently got up and lost the beam and couldn't get back down because it was so overcast."

Lozie did not want to leave the pilot's body behind, but there was no room in the Beaver aircraft to carry it.

Lozie was assured that another plane would retrieve the body or the co-pilot probably wouldn't have been willing to leave, Wartes said.

The rescuers said the flap where Lozie sat out his ordeal was only three or four feet above the water.

"He made almost no comment except in response to direct questions," Wartes said. "He said he had dived into the plane in an attempt to recover the emergency radio transmitter but could not locate it. The water was bitterly cold."

"The shore was about 100 yards away on one side and

Algeria Issue Poses New Fight for Faure

PARIS (CP)—Premier Edgar Faure, with National Assembly backing for a Moroccan "new deal" behind him, now faces what may prove a more dangerous hurdle in a debate starting today on Algeria.

By a surprising vote of 477 to 140, the assembly Sunday approved his plan for home rule in violence-ridden Morocco. The debate before the vote made clear, however, that many of the deputies will be out to oust the premier if he doesn't press on quickly with the promised reforms.

Home rule has already been granted to Tunisia, but no concessions will be made to Algerian nationalism as the troubled North African territory is constitutionally part of France. Tunisia and Morocco are protectorates.

Police killed two North Africans and seriously wounded five others when they opened fire at Douai, in northern France, Sunday night to quell "independence for Algeria" demonstrations.

Meanwhile a French general is to be relieved of his command following incidents in Rouen in which army reservists refused to leave their barracks on the way to North Africa.

Not until early Saturday were they whisked out under cover of darkness to begin their journey.

Wonder how many feel a little thanksgivin' is still due even after Thanksgiving's over?

Dulles Demands Soviet Decision

Kremlin Hesitancy on Ike Plan Blocks Disarmament by U.S.

By JAMES DEVLIN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — State Secretary Dulles challenged Soviet leaders Monday to open the door to disarmament and peace by accepting President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspections of one country by the other.

Dulles declared in an address before the American Legion convention that the United States will not disarm "unless we can be sure that others are doing the same."

The secretary emphasized that he regards the president's proposal as the key to a future free from war.

"One of the great gains of the 'summit' conference at Geneva was that it gave President Eisenhower an opportunity to demonstrate, so that none could doubt, our nation's dedication to peace."

"I refer particularly to his spontaneous offer to exchange military blueprints with the Soviet Union and allow them to overfly the United States on a basis of reciprocity."

HOPE FOR ACCEPTANCE

"We hope that the Soviet rulers will accept it. If they do accept it, in good spirit, then we can confidently move on to international measures to reduce and control the instruments of death."

The Soviet Union has not yet given a positive answer to the 'summit' proposal.

Dulles' emphasis on the importance attached to it by the United States government came little more than two weeks before his scheduled conference with the Russian, British and French foreign ministers at Geneva, Oct. 27.

The secretary referred to the Soviet Union's new "friendly" look but noted that "Soviet Communist doctrine has persistently taught retreat and zig-zag as a tactic of conquest."

"So we cannot tell," he said, "whether what is going on marks a genuine change of purpose or whether it is merely a manoeuvre."

"We have to have plans that are responsive to either contingency. They must not rebuff a change which might be that for which the whole world longs. On the other hand, they must not expose us to what could be mortal danger."

Dulles expressed faith that world opinion will help cure the world's ills.

"World opinion will act as a compulsion on the Soviet Union to relax its grip upon East Germany and to permit the unification of Germany."

Also I believe that world opinion will compel the restoration of national independence to the captive states of eastern Europe."

Not Blondes, Not Brunettes, Just Women

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's not true that "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is a Marilyn Monroe or "Gentlemen Prefer Brunettes" is a Jeanne Crain or Jane Russell.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, the noted marriage counselor, argues that the color of hair has nothing to do with it. Dr. Popenoe says it's the girl who makes a man feel happy, comfortable and shows interest in him who gets the dates and the wedding rings.

Men, in effect, just like women, period. That means there is no basis to the signs the "sheiks" of the roaring twenties painted on their tin lizzies, to wit:

"This car slows down for brunettes, stops for blondes and backs up for redheads."

'ARCAIC' SYSTEM

Gruenther Scores NATO Air Defences

By EDDIE GILMORE

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther today urged the free nations of Europe to integrate their air forces to meet any surprise attack by Russia.

Speaking to the defence ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the supreme commander described the present air command system as "archaic."

The integrated air force command he advocated would allow the West to be alerted and get off the ground with much greater speed than now possible.

Gruenther said the integrated command should be divided into four main areas: Northern European, Central Europe, Mediterranean and Britain.

Under the present NATO set-up the various air forces are under national control. This also applies to civilian warning systems.

NO PRIZE FOR LOSING

Gruenther said that in quality and quantity NATO was behind planned schedules but added:

"If war should come today, Oct. 11, we probably would win, but I can't guarantee this will always be the same in the future."

He said that greater efforts are needed.

"If we get into a war, there's no prize for second best," he said.

Gruenther said much new thinking is taking place in NATO concerning the greater dispersion of airfields with smaller number of aircraft assigned to each field.

The ministers this afternoon will gather at the Palais de Chaillot to hear reports by the NATO standing group officers.

WARN OF RUSSIAN MIGHT

The defence ministers' conference Monday heard British and American air and naval commanders warn that Russian military strength is increasing constantly, particularly in jet planes, submarines and nuclear weapons.

The speakers qualified these warnings, however, by saying they do not believe the Russians want war — at least not as long as there is a strong deterrent in the West.

If the ministers follow the recommendations of their military advisers they will try at least to maintain defence expenditures at present levels. However, nearly all NATO countries are trying to reduce their defence budgets as a result of the "Geneva spirit," smiles from Kremlin leaders and pressure at home.

This problem comes to a head in December when the foreign, finance, and defence ministers meet in Paris to map NATO's buildup for next year.

Pearson Denies Aggressive Talk Quoted By Tass

Assures Russians RCAF Not 'Poised'

MOSCOW (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson Monday gave prompt reassurances when faced with a Halifax-dated Tass dispatch quoting Air Commodore Fred Carpenter as saying Canadian squadrons in Europe were poised for an attack on the Soviet Union.

Pearson denied that he or his associates had ever heard of the statement by Carpenter, wrongly described in the Soviet news agency story as chief of the air staff. Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon is Canada's chief of the air staff.

Air Commodore Carpenter, chief of air operations, was quoted in an interview at Halifax Oct. 3 as saying Canada's air squadrons in Europe are maintained at full combat level. He had just returned from a tour of RCAF bases in France, Germany and Britain.

"Our position is to make the Russians know we can knock hell out of them," he was quoted as saying. "We've got to be good and make sure any enemy knows we're good. I may add I'm sure we are."

NO AGGRESSION

Pearson assured Russia that Canadian squadrons will never be used for aggression against the Soviet Union or any other nation.

Soviet deputy premier Lazaf Kaganovich produced the dispatch after an embassy luncheon where conversations were most friendly.

Pearson, obviously shocked, referred the story to his advisers but none knew of the reported statement by Carpenter, who recently returned from Europe. The external affairs minister then directed an official inquiry to Ottawa, saying he was glad Kaganovich had mentioned the matter, so that he could clear up the misunderstanding.

At his Ottawa home, Air Commodore Carpenter declined comment until he could discuss the situation with other officials at air force headquarters today. He said, however, he could not remember having been interviewed by any Tass correspondent.

CAPT. BERGO... under way again.

RESTS IN TACOMA

Bergo's Bathtub Sails Again; Victoria Bound

The washtub mariner is in action in Pacific Northwest waters again, after a year's rest.

Associated Press reports from Tacoma, Wash., say Roy Bergo and his outboard-powered washtub is headed for Victoria and Vancouver via Seattle and Port Angeles.

In October, 1954, Bergo and his tub set out from Edmonds, Wash., to travel 1,200 miles to Alaska. After various vicissitudes he gave up the attempt at Port Angeles.

Among other troubles, he ran out of money, could not find a backer, had motor trouble, was refused an escort across Juan de Fuca Strait.

SHORT REST

In Tacoma Monday he told Associated Press he plans a week's rest before resuming his 1955 cruise.

Bergo's bathtub, equipped with outrigger pontoons and a three-horsepower motor, lunched into harbor a few days ago from Olympia on what was to be the first leg of his trip.

But heavy seas in Puget Sound and the glint of financial backing combined to put him ashore.

"I plan to complete the trip in about 30 days," the Everett man said. "And it will be easier with good backing."

The resolution had the concurrence of the CCL executive.

CCL Chief Wants Labor Tied Closer to Farm Organizations

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor Monday decided to seek closer ties with farmers and heard its chief press for the CCL's amalgamation with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The expected TLC-CCL merger, CCL president A. R. Mosher said in his opening speech to the congress annual convention, is "logical and desirable in every respect."

More than 900 delegates, after hearing Mosher, adopted a resolution instructing congress leaders to set up a permanent committee to advise and assist farm organizations "so that better understanding of our joint problems may be obtained."

The resolution had the concurrence of the CCL executive.

FEAR UNWARRANTED

Other developments at the CCL's opening session:

1. Federal Labor Minister Gregg said workers need have no fear that automation will reduce the number of available jobs.

2. Jacob Ptofsky, Washington, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said

America CIO-CCL said the proposed merger presents a "golden opportunity to bring trade unionism to millions of unorganized workers."

3. A. E. Hartung of Portland, Ore., described the coming amalgamation as offering an "inspiration" for such groups as farmers.

4. The merger agreement—already adopted by the TLC's annual convention—was referred to a CCL committee for study. It is expected to come back to the floor and to be adopted, on Wednesday.

The 74-year-old Mosher, in his annual presidential address, said the merged TLC-CCL congress—due to come into being next April—will find unity in strength. This now could be accomplished on a country-wide scale.

"What big teeth you have Mr. Brown!"
"The better to teach you with, Miss Lee."

Eyeballs—to Stuffed Squirrels-- 'Audio Visual' Can Supply Them

By PETE LOUDON

If all the world's a stage—then Denis W. Brown is keeper of the props. No matter what dry segment of learning a teacher wants to imbue in a student's mind, Audio-Visual department of Greater Victoria

School Board has something to illustrate the lesson. Mr. Brown directs the storage and distribution of thousands of teaching "tools" which circulate through district schools. He says each one of them is a "springboard to reading."

It may be a football-sized eyeball or a seven-foot slide-rule, a stuffed squirrel or a glass-manufacturing kit. He can produce a complete Indian village or a replica of a stone-age plaque, or a sample of each of the various stages in the growth of a grass-hopper.

He has a model of the Globe Playhouse lacking only a Shakespeare to make it come to life and he has 17,000 pamphlets, booklets, pictures and charts for further reference on every subject covered by the curriculum.

FREE MATERIAL

Most of these he gets free from manufacturers and foreign governments, written off to advertising or public relations. All of it he must screen with his assistant, Miss Vivian Lee. Some items, like the recently acquired picture magazines from Poland and Czechoslovakia, must be discarded as Communist propaganda. He must avoid literature from religious sects and take nothing dealing with sex education.

One of the biggest tasks of the department is receiving, viewing and scheduling films and film strips for movie and still projects. Almost every school has one of each. And almost, every teacher finds the medium an impressive instructor.

There are films, in color and black and white, that make even such trite topics as grammar and math come to life—make geography like a trip around the world.

CLASS TRIPS

If bringing the world to the classroom doesn't find sufficient response, Mr. Brown sends the class into the world. He arranges class journeys to such places as the provincial archives, a bakery, a dairy, a fire hall, a laundry, the legislature, post office of a whole-sale warehouse.

He effects savings on chalk and blackboards, teachers' time and students' interest—and saves dollars for the taxpayer.

People often donate things of great value and rarity to Mr. Brown's department. But he had to turn down an offer recently. A man phoned and asked, "Would you like a cougar?" "Stuffed?" asked Mr. Brown cautiously. "No, but it's dead. I just shot it."

'FOR PETE'S SAKE ...'

Paper Pleads For Townsend

LONDON (AP)—"For Pete's sake ... put him out of his misery!"—so says a huge page one headline of the Sunday Pictorial demanding an official announcement about Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Under big photographs of the princess and the divorced Battle of Britain hero, the Pictorial describes Townsend as "the man who loves Princess Margaret."

Townsend arrives Wednesday from Brussels, where he is, air attache in the British embassy, and will be here a month.

"A firm official announcement about marriage to Princess Margaret is long overdue," the paper says. "It would end for Townsend the amazing life of sham he is at present forced to lead."

The Pictorial says Europe is giving Townsend a "golden ride on a royal roundabout simply for the reasons that he is expected to marry the beautiful princess."

'FLITS LIKE ROYALTY'

It observes that Townsend has a salary of £30 a week and no private income—yet "flits from Oslo to Paris to Cannes to Deauville like royalty to ride in horse races for gentlemen of independent means."

"The costs of suites, hotels, fares and restaurants to match must add to his misery."

The author of the article, columnist Rex North, added "nobody could kid me" that Townsend would know the wedding to Margaret was off and "still accept in silence and smiles all the favors showered on him."

Then North repeated the demand for an official statement on the reported romance and said: "Let's hope they both live happily ever after."

Princess Margaret is still in Scotland but the royal family's vacation at Balmoral is nearing an end. Whether the 25-year-old Princess will see Townsend, 40, is something never mentioned in the royal court.

Boy, 2, Mauled To Death by Dog

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Leo LaPierre, 2, was killed Saturday when he was mauled by a sled dog.

Reports of his death indicated that he approached the dogs with several other children out of sight of houses in the town site.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry LaPierre, formerly of Windsor, Ont. Mr. LaPierre has been stationed at the naval radio station less than a month.

Officials said he would be transferred immediately at his own request.

President Jokes On Eve of First Trip Outdoors

But Doctors Warn No Work for Months

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower touched off gales of side-splitting laughter in his hospital room Sunday by snapping a bright bow tie into place on his gold-colored pyjamas.

Vice-President Nixon told newsmen about the incident.

The president's bed was wheeled out onto an eighth-floor terrace Monday, the first time he has been outdoors since he suffered a heart attack Sept. 24.

It marked the start of new privileges doctors have ordered for him. But the long recovery period still ahead for Eisenhower brought postponement Monday of the Middle East good-will tour which Vice-President Richard Nixon had been scheduled to make next month.

White House announcement of the postponement came less than 24 hours after the president's physicians disclosed that he will remain in Fitzsimons Army Hospital here for a minimum of four weeks and possibly five.

And Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent Boston heart specialist, estimated it may be Jan. 1 before Eisenhower gets back to his White House desk in Washington.

Girl Leads Mounties To Drug Bail-Jumper

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bail-jumper Eddie Scosky, 28, was back in police custody here Monday after two RCMP constables followed a woman, believed by police to be the fugitive's girl friend, to a Portland, Ore., bus depot. Police said the RCMP constables and U.S. immigration officials picked up Scosky at the bus depot Sunday after Joyce Frezer of New Westminster, was followed to Portland from Vancouver.

Officers said Miss Frezer crossed the border in a bus and checked into a Portland hotel early Sunday. In the afternoon she went to the bus depot to meet Scosky and was taken into custody along with the bail-jumper, police added.

John Wilson, U.S. immigration agent in Portland, said Scosky had been in the U.S. since Sept. 20, two days before he was to appear for trial in Vancouver on a charge of trafficking in narcotics.

Scosky is scheduled to appear in court today. A reward of $1,000 was posted for Scosky's return after he jumped $15,000 bail.

The reward was offered by Walter Campbell, a city fireman who stood to lose $10,000 if Scosky did not appear in court before Oct. 21. The fireman put up a real estate bond for Scosky—"a friend of a friend."

NATO Falling Apart?

IF THE WORLD ENJOYS TODAY the apparent prospects of peace, or at least the absence of actual war, its happier posture is due entirely to the strength of the democracies. They have compelled Russia to pause and bargain (though no real bargain has been completed in any great international issue.)

The strength of the democracies is built entirely on the grand alliance known as NATO. If it crumbled the strength of the West would crumble with it, and if the West appeared weak we may be sure that Russia's present strategy would quickly change.

It is highly alarming, therefore, to read a dispatch in The New York Times from its chief European correspondent, Mr. C. L. Sulzberger, who says that NATO "shows every sign of falling apart" and "withering under the warm Geneva winds."

To support this statement Mr. Sulzberger cites some formidable evidence.

To begin with, he recalls the warning which General Ridgway, then chief of the American Army staff, voiced last spring before a Congressional committee. In the view of this great soldier of campaigns in Europe and Asia, the United States military forces "are inadequate in strength and improperly proportioned to meet (our) commitments, specific or implied" and between 1958 and 1962 "the United States nuclear-air superiority will have lost most of its present significance."

Nevertheless, the drastic reductions in the American Army opposed by General Ridgway are going forward. Still further cuts in the military budget are contemplated.

At the same time, Mr. Sulzberger reports, Britain intends to reduce its manpower contribution to the NATO pool. France has withdrawn most of its NATO divisions from Europe to defend North Africa. The timetable of West Germany's rearmament has been set back. Greece and Turkey, essential bastions of NATO in the eastern Mediterranean are quarrelling, and Greece is thinking of abandoning the alliance altogether.

"Such decisions," Mr. Sulzberger writes, "are bound to have a cumulative and bad effect on NATO. Nobody is fooled by our assurances that we can give more defence for less costs. All members are encouraged to trim their own budgets... Where does this unhappy situation leave us?"

Mr. Sulzberger believes, like General Ridgway and other soldiers, that the West is left, or will soon be left, in a state of dangerous weakness. It is becoming more and more dependent on the single sanction of atomic weapons, is prepared to fight, if necessary, only a total world war when its real danger may well be in peripheral wars like those of Korea and Indo-China, which must be decided by conventional weapons and largely by ground forces.

Sir John Slessor, former chief of the British air staff, says much the same thing. "We must," he argues, "expect to be faced with other 'Koreas' which it will be in our interest to localize and insulate... These other Koreas, if they occur, will require the participation of land forces, perhaps on a substantial scale, with air cover and support as they had in Korea."

These are military calculations on which the layman's view is of little account. The larger process now in flow must be clear to everybody, including especially the Russians. If the West intends, merely because the climate has improved lately, to liquidate the power which alone brought Russia to the bargaining table, then it will liquidate its only means of safeguarding the peace. The fate of NATO, in all probability, will determine the fate of the world.

Give Them the Tools

A STORY IS TOLD OF THE farmer who claimed he had the laziest rooster in the world. "Look at him," the farmer said. "He sits there all day without doing a thing. Even at sunrise he waits for the other roosters to crow, then he just nods his head."

Not many of us aspire to such a sublime state, or would enjoy it long if we had it. But it is a fact that in many cases the daily chores are done for us.

For instance, we don't go out like the Good Samaritan on the highways and byways and look up objectives for our charity and generosity. Such a job, in most communities, is undertaken by special agencies with various charitable interests at heart. In modern life, the other way might be too haphazard, although direct contact with the people who are helped would have its own immeasurable return in personal satisfaction.

At any rate, charitable causes today are organized for efficiency. And when a number of such agencies combine for the purpose of appealing to the public for funds, considerable savings are made in expenses.

Thus today in Greater Victoria, as in scores of cities across this continent, we have the Community Chest. The Chest is merely a collection and distribution organization, designed to channel public contributions into the activities of its member agencies.

Seventeen causes are represented in the local Community Chest. They range from the Family and Children's Service, which uses about one-third of the money collected, to the Sunshine Camp for needy persons, the CNIB, the Boy Scouts, the Columbia Coast Mission, Christmas Bureau, and others.

This week the drive is on to collect donations from householders. As the volunteer canvassers come to the door, they bring with them an opportunity to donate to seven different worthy causes—causes which would demand a great deal of time and effort if each donor were to go out and find them individually. These agencies are efficiently run and do excellent and vital work for this community. They need the full support of every resident.

More Pressure for a Coast Guard

CANADIANS MAY EXPECT TO have a Coast Guard at some time in the future.

The cost of such a service has prevented its formation up to this time, but co-ordinated action is being taken by different Government marine agencies to provide a measure of protection along the desired lines. Air-Sea Rescue performs some of the duties of a Coast Guard and in the years ahead, once financing has been arranged, the full service should come into existence.

Another strong argument for a Coast Guard is being advanced by fishing communities in this part of the nation. It stems from a very clear understanding of the hazards of fishing and small boat work on Canada's Pacific Coast and it cannot be ignored by federal authorities.

The latter have already shown an appreciation of the problem by action which links units of the navy, air force, RCMP, certain vessels and equipment of the Department of Transport, and fisheries craft into the existing safety organization and co-ordinates communications.

This co-operative action suggests a means by which the major financial hurdle to the formation of a Coast Guard might be lowered in part at least. If independent government services can be combined, in an emergency, to substitute for a Coast Guard, could not a Coast Guard, as part of its duties, take over the routine responsibilities of the independent government services?

The economies effected by such a move might not meet full costs. They would, however, help toward financing the protection which smaller boat operators—fishermen in particular—require and are receiving inadequately at this time.

Open Minds Essential

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY WESLEY Black's progress report on revision of the Municipal Act has drawn attention again to provisions for the adoption of a metropolitan administrative system for Greater Victoria.

This proposal legislation, coupled with the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored fact-finding survey on amalgamation, represents a sane approach to the question of unified services for an area which is physically a single community.

Together the current studies call for an intelligent and co-operative attitude on the part of city and municipal councils. As never before the way is being paved for a scientific investigation of the whole matter. Under existing circumstances, any prejudice by individual councilors or members reflects sheer parochialism at a time when such a stand can do their respective districts no good and merely reveals them in an unfavorable light.

To justify their positions as representatives of the electors, the mayor, reeves, aldermen and councilors are bound to consider the whole question with open minds. There is no room at this time for rivalries over who is to preserve the right to appoint a dog-catcher.

LOOSE ENDS

The Frozen Asset

THE newspapers are full these days, and rightly, with the statistics of the Canadian grain crisis (for assuredly it is nothing less than a crisis). But a man must know the prairies and its people if he is to understand what is under way.

We face here not merely some complex calculation on the charts of the economists and a painful problem in the cabinet chamber but a huge physical fact, a mountain of unsold grain, hundreds of overflowing elevators on every branch line from the Lakes to the Rockies and thousands of barns bursting with precious foodstuffs.

When I read the coldly factual reports of the Wheat Board they mean very little to me. I can begin to grasp this gigantic problem when I think of a little man who settled far north of the Peace River country last year, on what is called Buffalo Prairie, and managed, with his three sons, to clear a hundred acres of bush.

LAST June he was watching his first crop grow. It stood only a few inches high, but it was doing fine. It should average out, he told me, at thirty bushels per acre, which is a fine yield, and it would be of the highest grade.

What, I wonder, is happening to that little man today? No doubt he has reaped his little crop but he cannot sell it. He cannot use it to pay for the cost of clearing his land or to build a house and replace his present shanty of poplar poles. His assets are frozen, his labor sterilized, and the cold winter of the far north is coming on.

Multiply that tiny farm and that man's problem many thousands of times and you have the farm problem of the prairies today. Or suppose that about a half the lumber, paper, minerals, fish and farm products of British Columbia suddenly piled up, unsaleable. How would we like that out here?

THE thoughtless man on this rich coast, with its diversified industries, may suppose that the farmer's problem is his own and nobody else's business. In fact, it is everybody's business from one end of the country to the other. None of us can escape its outcome.

For the grain heaped on the prairies today, nearly a billion bushels, represents one of our primary Canadian assets. If the nation had not developed unbelievably of recent years in other lines of industry, it could not carry the heavy economic load of unsold grain without the gravest strains. Rich as the nation is, the failure to sell the crop would have serious effects throughout the economy though the worst effects would be concentrated in three grain provinces.

IF the surplus cannot be quickly reduced the grain farmer must be helped in some fashion by the national treasury. If he cannot sell his crop he must be loaned enough money on it to carry him until he can sell it.

This will be a relatively simple business but it does not touch the fundamental difficulty, which has recently become much deeper and more alarming than any Canadian had foreseen even a few months ago.

It had been supposed until now that the surplus problem was temporary, that we had merely to sit it out for a year or so and it would pass. We can no longer be sure of that because a completely new factor has appeared.

The United States has started to dump its grain surpluses throughout the world and thus gravely damaged our normal Canadian markets. This dumping also looked temporary when it began. It does not look temporary now.

A REPUBLICAN administration in Washington, a businessman's government, is always talking about free enterprise, the virtue of competition and the sovereign law of supply and demand. But it is subsidizing farmers to grow grain which cannot be sold anywhere under normal conditions and must be unloaded at the cost of the taxpayers—and there is no sign that this system of subsidies, known as price supports, will be changed. If it is not changed, Canada may face indefinitely the prospect of impossible competition from dumped American grain.

It may be said that Canada should imitate the United States and subsidize grain exports. Already it is being said by some men on the prairies that we should "sell" grain for foreign currencies, which only means giving it away, or lending it, with small chance of repayment, since the foreign currencies are not the currencies we need or can use.

IF such methods as these are finally forced upon us let us not fool ourselves about the results. The export of grain is no use to us unless it translates wheat into dollars which, in turn, can be translated into the goods of all sorts we must buy in foreign countries, mainly in the United States our natural source of supply.

Loans to our farmers, while they may be essential, do not convert their grain into cash. We cannot throw out a huge frozen asset, we can only disguise our losses for a moment by monkeying with currencies.

ONLY a wheat economist can truly understand a problem so gigantic and complicated. Anyone who knows the politics of Canada can see at once that we face here a political (though not necessarily a partisan) issue of the first magnitude, and that the St. Laurent Government faces probably the most troublesome business in its history.

Geneva Stock-Taking

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

ENOUGH time has been passed and enough has happened to enable us to see more clearly and concretely the significance of the meeting at the summit in Geneva last July. I am afraid that an honest examination must show that Moscow has had the initiative, and that it has taken a formidable advantage of the military and political situation. It has adapted its foreign policy to the fact that there is a military stalemate, and it is exploiting this fact in an astute and carefully calculated diplomatic campaign. The campaign is designed to undermine the western military system and to neutralize American power in Europe.

We shall soon be asking ourselves what is wrong with our own policies. We shall be asking ourselves whether they have not remained frozen in the pre-Geneva mold, and whether as a result we are not coming off second best in the diplomatic duel in Germany, in the Middle East and in the Mediterranean.

In retrospect it is clearer than ever that what happened at Geneva was a public acknowledgment by the heads of states that they cannot wage an atomic war.

The words used at Geneva were in the form of declarations and pledges that they would not go to war. But the underlying reality was that the governments knew from their scientists and military leaders that in the existing balance of power war has to be avoided.

ONE POINT OF AGREEMENT That simultaneous public acknowledgment about war was all that was agreed to at Geneva. But that agreement was enormously important. For on both sides of the Iron Curtain there have been built up during the cold war military and political structures of alliances based on the expectation of a third world war.

There is no doubt about this in regard to the foreign policy of the United States since the declaration of the Truman Doctrine. And in the East the threat of encirclement by the United States has long been used to justify the domination of the satellites and the police repression within the Communist orbit.

It is clear enough now, I think, that some time last winter the Kremlin, realizing that there was an atomic stalemate, formed a diplomatic policy based on that fact. The major premise of the policy was that the fear of Soviet military aggression, which had been so strong since the Korean aggression, should be removed from the minds of the people of the Old World.

Then when the fear had been removed, the Soviet Union would be able to exploit diplomatically the great divisions of the non-Communist world—that of the two Germanys, that of France and Germany, that of Islam and Europe, etc., etc.

The removal of the fear of Soviet military aggression was easy enough because, as a matter of fact, Soviet military aggression was impossible in the existing stalemate. On this point the Soviet policy was not to deceive the West. The policy was to advertise the stalemate which neither East nor West could alter.

The inability of Moscow since the spring may reflect a number of things that are happening in the Soviet Union. But on the military level it has expressed the fact that war is at this time impossible. What the Kremlin wanted and what the Kremlin got at Geneva was a spectacular demonstration that there was no longer need to fear Soviet military aggression.

The removal of that fear has made it difficult to keep the democratic parliaments voting the military appropriations. It has also produced a reappraisal of their foreign policies.

The fear of Soviet military conquest having been largely dispelled, there is a new order so to speak, of priorities in many nations.

Among the Germans, for example, reunification has become more important than the military alliance with the West. Greece and Turkey have allowed themselves a quarrel over Cyprus that they would never have dared to indulge in if they were still afraid of being conquered by the Soviet Union. Egypt, and perhaps also Syria, are feeling free to manoeuvre for high stakes, something they would not risk if they thought the Red army might roll down upon them.

The strength of the new Soviet diplomacy is in the fact that in these various conflicts they have worked themselves into the classic position where they hold the balance of power. This is most evident in Europe where they are now in a position to play upon the balance between the two Germanys, the balance between France and Germany and the balance of Germany with Poland.

INTERIOR POSITION The Western position is inferior. For one thing the Soviet Union holds the biggest cards—namely Eastern Germany, and the lost German territory beyond the Potsdam frontier. For another the Soviet Union is stronger because it can be more flexible. It is not bound as Britain and America are bound to a German policy which is not negotiable.

As a result, because the Kremlin can negotiate while we cannot, the prospect in Germany must suit Moscow only too well. For the situation is shaping up for direct dealings with Germany while the English-speaking peoples are on the sidelines.

The frozen condition of our own policies is our greatest weakness. We have, of course, great military, economic and political assets if only we were in a position to use them for bargaining purposes. At the present time we are unable to use them. They are frozen by rigid and highly emotional commitments. Before our diplomatic position can be improved, our assets must be made negotiable.

That is something which the President was just beginning to do when he was stricken.

As Our Readers See It

BY WHAT DESIGN

Nature does not take into consideration the existence of mankind, or any other form of life whatsoever.

The forces of nature or "Acts of God" as they are sometimes called; by misguided persons, strike without any heed whatever of what will happen to whom.

When rivers overflow their banks sweeping away human lives and property, as we have so recently known; when tornadoes and earthquakes spit their havoc, or when volcanoes spit their fire and lava burying whole cities, they ask no one's consent, they heed no one's willing prayers.

They regard not the godly or ungodly, the just or the unjust. The rich and poor, the saint and sinner, all are swept along in nature's violence.

Nature's force, then, is wholly out of step with the ecclesiastical portrayal of a "Kind and Loving Father" who cares and protects.

CANDID.

TOLL OF PRESIDENCY

Illustrative of the crushing responsibility that the U.S. Presidency has become is that the first four presidents deceased on the average at the ripe old age of 80.1 years, whereas the four most recently dead could average only 63 years.

Over the same period the life expectancy of Americans has risen from about 35 years to 67. It would seem that whereas then wealth and power brought hopes of a long life today they bring only incessant care and an early death.

Appended are the presidents and their ages at death: G. Washington—67, J. Adams—90, T. Jefferson—83, J. Madison—85, J. Monroe—73, J. Q. Adams—80, A. Jackson—78, M. Van Buren—79, W. H. Harrison—68, J. FOR SCHOOLS IN SAANICH

I am writing to support the suggestion of the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce that further action be taken to publicize the need for and details of the school building program. An informed electorate will support the by-law. Lack of true information and indifference could result in defeat.

The policy of the School Board in making provision to abandon the building on the Pat Bay Airport is a very wise move. A knowledge and understanding of all the circumstances surrounding the operation of this school will convince anyone that its continued use would be most uneconomical both financially and educationally.

The School Board is to be commended for the serious and scientific study made of the school building needs. Every item in the report shows careful planning on a modest scale calculated to serve well the educational needs of the children of this district.

If there be room for criticism it is that the School Board has been forced to restrict the extent of the program. In my opinion provision for essential services in the Mount Newton High School are inadequate.

However, no program could be drawn up by anybody or committee that would suit everybody in detail. This is no time for quibbling over minor differences of opinion. It is no time for sweeping criticism unsupported by valid evidence. It is the time for all of us who believe in the public school system of education and in the democratic way of life to unite in support of our School Board's very reasonable submission.

GORDON'S PAY INCREASE

Referring to your editorial appearing in Tuesday, Oct. 4 issue headed: "Diminishing Returns."

The figures quoted are very interesting, depicting the fact the Unions are asking for an 18 per cent increase, which, you claim, "the railways are in a position to pay." Please let it be drawn to your attention I saw no editorial commenting on the granting to Donald Gordon of 50 per cent increase, from $50,000 to $75,000 a year or an individual increase of over $2,000 per month which is more than the average man makes in a whole year.

Can the railways afford to pay this? —Isn't this going to cost the public something?

DENTISTS AND RESEARCH

I see by our local papers that the subject of fluoridation of our water supply is coming to the fore once more. It seems that the dentists are in favor of fluoridation. Not being scientific research chemists I do not see that they are in a position to advise the people. They may be excellent dentists and we should not like to be without them, but I fail to see how they can be expected to know the effects of the fluorides on the kidneys and the other organs of the body.

Only those who have spent many years studying that particular subject have the right to instruct the public. Hear the words of Dr. P. Ross, President of the Detroit District Dental Society: "The only question is the medical aspect which dentists are in no position to evaluate."

DON'T RUSH ME

At a recent meeting of Republican state chairmen, reporters kept asking the question: "What will you Republicans do if President Eisenhower decides not to run again?" The best answer—the one that expressed the attitude of all the party leaders present—was: "We'll jump off that bridge when we come to it."

—Potomac in The New Republic.

They Watch It for Me

ON all but one day during the World Series one of the boys from the newsroom came into my office and said: "Gotta quarter?"

I'd give him a quarter, he'd push a square of graphed cardboard over to me and I'd write my name in a section. That, presumably, put me in the office sweep on the following game. Later, if a guy was interested enough, he could look on the notice board and see what score he'd drawn. I looked once. My score was 7 to 7, which seemed a little odd at the time.

Nothing much happened to me in the sweep. Winners were popping up all around but I managed to escape any extra claims on my income tax if winnings are taxable.

On the first day, when I got home, I told the 15-year-old I had a quarter on the game. "Who'd ya bet on?" he asked, and I told him, "Connie Mack's Athletics, I think."

"Connie Mack's Athletics?" he yelled. "What century are we in?"

Then he was speechless for half an hour, which is a pretty good return on a two-bit investment, even if it takes silence off the old standard.

Nobody came into my office from the newsroom for the seventh game and I kept the quarter in my pocket. In other words, the series of seven games only cost me $1.50, which is better than par for the course as far as I'm concerned.

A PENNY SAVED . . .

I'm not an economist, but it seemed to me that on the seventh day I was a quarter better off than I should have been. And if I read the reasoning of a very distinguished British Columbia economist right, I'd actually made a quarter. Provided I can keep that up, sometime in the future I'll be able to buy a building like the Kelowna Courthouse without paying anything for it. I don't quite understand how, but the prospect is pleasing.

On finance, as on a lot of other things, I guess I'm a little simple-minded. It doesn't matter too much in my case. I've got a book-keeper at home who keeps accounts straight and there's another outfit working for me, too.

Back in the old Times building, a tall man from the composing room—his name's Leslie S. T. Colton—came in to see me and explained all about insurance. Lots of my friends tell me all about insurance and leave me with buzzing in the head.

But S.T. had a new wrinkle. The way he explained it, I could borrow $1,000 from the Graphic Arts Credit Union and buy 1,000 shares in the outfit. These I'd pay off at a little less than $8.50 a month for 10 years. When the 10 years was up I'd have 1,000 shares worth $1,000.

I wouldn't get any interest on the money I paid during that decade, but I'd be insured for $1,000 and my loan would be insured for $1,000. If I died, my beneficiary would pick up $2,000.

It looked to me as if I had been offered at least $1,000 insurance free and I didn't quite see how the credit union could do it.

S.T. went into more details—something about the credit union being able to lend out my money for a certain amount of interest and a scheme embracing all credit unions to insure loans so nobody held the bag if a client died before he'd paid up the total due on the loan/insurance plan.

EASY SAVING

My head began buzzing again, but the proposition still looked good. Putting money in the credit union seemed a lot more comfortable to me than trying to store it in an old sock. In a sock it feels lumpy if your shoes are tight, and the bills could wear out if there was a hole in your sole.

Anyway, I'm in the credit union and there are about nine million others in credit unions with me in the western hemisphere. Together we have about $2.5 billion saved—which is a lot of money if you don't compare it to national debts.

And according to the literature they're sending out to commemorate Credit Union Day next Tuesday, the unions are doing a lot of good with their funds. Apart from helping folk like me—who have no genius for making or saving money—they're able to grant sound loans to people who need the dough for pretty good purposes.

In my own selfish way, I haven't given quite enough attention to the benefits others derive from the arrangement. But I've been able to sock away about $8.50 a month, with the anticipation of having $1,000 worth of shares when I've paid in $1,000—plus the advantage of insurance while I'm paying it. That's good added protection, but not enough to make it worth while for a beneficiary to turn from old lace to arse.

CANADA'S ATOM CASE

Martin Gives View To UN Committee

By JACK BEST

Canadian Press Staff Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada's views on proposals for the establishment of an international agency for the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy were before the United Nations political committee today.

Health Minister Martin, chairman of the Canadian delegation, was scheduled to speak on the proposed agency and related matters. Canada is slated for a post on its first board of governors under the draft statute for the agency.

The draft statute, which Canada helped develop, will be submitted to individual governments for their comment.

Under the statute the agency would negotiate its own relationship with the UN. Canada has not yet taken a stand on the question of how closely the two bodies should be tied together. The United States favors a relatively loose tie with India and some other countries favor a closer link between the two.

It is recalled that Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson, in an address to the last UN assembly, said atomic peace is a field "in which the United Nations should not, and I am confident will not, be bypassed."

Monday, Britain supported the U.S. on the agency's relationship to the UN. British delegate Anthony Nutting said his government felt the atom-peace body should take the form of a specialized agency.

"Its relationship to the United Nations must be such as not to hamper its effectiveness," he told the committee. Russia has proposed the agency be linked to the Security Council, where the great power veto applies.

Nutting also opposed an Indian plan to have the agency's constitution debated in the committee. He said comments should be handled through diplomatic channels.

The British delegate said his country estimates that by 1975 40 per cent of its total electricity will be generated by nuclear power.

"By the year 2,000 it is estimated that nuclear energy will be able to do the work of 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 tons of coal a year throughout the world," he said.

Ailing Adenauer Rebuffed In Anti-Rearmament Election

BONN (AP)—A medical bulletin issued today said Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's 79-year-old chancellor, has pneumonia, but added that it is "fading away" and "the fever has abated."

"The chancellor, however, must remain in bed for at least another week," the bulletin added. It was the first indication since the German leader took to his bed last Friday that his illness was serious.

Even before today's announcement Adenauer's illness had alarmed his close friends and family. He is subject to colds, and this is his second serious illness this year.

The Cologne Stadt Anzeiger quotes friends of the family as saying Adenauer this time has not responded as well to medical treatment as on previous occasions.

BREMEN, Germany (AP)—

West German Socialists exulted today in a sharp rebuff handed Chancellor Adenauer's rearmament policy by the voters of Bremen state.

In elections for a new state parliament, the anti-rearmament Socialists Sunday captured a majority—52 seats—in the 100-member legislature and rolled up their biggest popular vote ever in the state, a centre of industry and shipbuilding.

The election campaign was fought over the Bonn government's membership in the North Atlantic alliance and its plans to build a 500,000-man armed force for Western defence. Socialist leaders said these pro-Western policies are blocking Soviet agreement to the reunification of Germany.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Silent Candy Wrappers

LONDON—Here and there . . . CANADIAN PROFESSOR Chester Martin gets a plug for his book, "Foundations of Canadian Nationhood," on the book page of the Manchester Guardian, even though, reading between the lines, the reviewer seems to have found this three-pound sterling (not avoirdupois) tome rather heavy going! It . . . would be hard for a reader to understand who lacked substantial knowledge of the background. That the chapters concerned with the process of unification are the most ponderous causes no surprise, for the historian has yet to appear who can make this too absorbing as duty suggests that it must be.

"Professor Martin nearly succeeds because, though his close-packed style makes continuous demand on the attention, his comment and observation are lively, especially as he sees history in terms of men rather than records."

THE LATEST THING here for chocolates and candies that go on sale in theatres and cinemas—silent wrappings. They're made of plastic and guaranteed not to crinkle and rustle during a performer's big moment, when someone in the audience always decides it's just the time to dig into the candy bag.

I bet those wrappers won't fool my dogs, though. Next time I go to the cinema I'll bring home a silent-wrapped chocolate bar and see if they'll fail to prick up their ears, which they do at the sound of the opening of any such tidbit. "They can hear me peeling a banana at a hundred paces."

QUOTE by Richard (Doctor in the House) Gordon, back from the Venice Film Festival: "Speaking as a doctor, none of the figures of the starlets there were anatomically possible."

"WE'VE HAD a wonderful summer—thanks to myxomatosis," say Britain's farmers. Last year this disease, purposely spread by many farmers, virtually wiped out Britain's rabbit population. It means millions of dollars for Britain through improved crops.

SANDY WILSON, whose hugely successful musical play, "The Boy Friend," is still running after two years, has done it again. It seems. His new one, "The Buccaneer" (about, of all things, a kids' comic), had a suburban tryout to rave notices. Must see it when it comes into town because his "Boy Friend" I felt to be one of the most delightful shows I've seen in years.

ONE OF THE FUNNIEST gags I've seen pulled for a long time is a sketch in a new revue here. Curtain goes up to show a typical Russian mother in her rocking chair in the cherry orchard. Son Ivan comes along and tries to cheer her out of her depressed state. "Soon," he says, "it will be spring and the trees will be in blossom." "But I am so ill, Ivan," she says. He says: "Don't worry, little mother, soon Petrovitch will be back from the wars . . ." "But I am so ill, Ivan," she says. Ivan steps to the footlights and says: "I'm sorry, ladies and gentlemen, but I'm afraid we won't be able to go on with this sketch. My mother is so terribly ill."

Vargas Aide Wins Brazil Presidency

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Juscelino Kubitschek, political heir of the late president Getulio Vargas, claimed victory Sunday in Brazil's presidential election.

His claim was not disputed. With 6,926,114 out of about 10,000,000 votes unofficially tabulated, the 53-year-old surgeon led his nearest opponent, Maj. Gen. Juarez Távora, by 321,370 votes. Adhemar de Barros, former governor of São Paulo, and Plínio Salgado, the fourth candidate, trailed far behind.

Kubitschek told a reporter nothing could prevent his inauguration Jan. 31 to the five-year presidential term. Pre-election rumors had claimed the military would prevent the political heirs of Vargas from assuming power.

WHO IS TO DECIDE?

'Impaired' Definition Puzzler for Courts

BY RON COULTER

Magistrate H. C. Hall's recent remarks about the lack of scientific tests in dealing with "impaired" drivers touched a subject which is currently proving a puzzler to legal minds across Canada.

The courtroom poser arises from Section 223—driving an auto while one's ability is impaired by alcohol or drugs.

In the particular local case, Magistrate Hall said there was a direct contradiction in evidence given by prosecution and defence. He gave the accused the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charge.

The problem is caused by one little word—"impaired."

Who is to decide what "impaired" means and to what degree?

MANY BATTLES

"Impaired" is the subject of many a courtroom argument.

Many lawyers say an arresting policeman should not be the judge of whether a man's ability is impaired or not.

They say he's never seen the man before, doesn't know how he walks, doesn't know how he talks, and, in general, doesn't know how he normally acts.

That's a point on which many defence arguments are based.

Police evidence usually goes something like this:

"I spoke to the accused and asked him how much he had to drink. His breath smelled strongly of alcohol, he was unsteady on his feet, his eyes were glassy and his speech slurred."

"In my opinion his ability to drive a motor vehicle was impaired by alcohol."

DRUNKEN DRIVING

In many cases the driver could have been charged with driving while intoxicated. That charge carries, upon conviction, not less than a seven-day jail term and not more than three months.

Perhaps many officers give the drinking driver the benefit of the doubt and charge him with "impaired" driving.

There is a subsection following section 223 which specifies a chemical analysis of a suspect's blood, urine or breath may be taken and admitted as evidence.

If the sample indicates a certain percentage of alcohol there's a conviction.

This subsection is also designed to allow an innocent man to prove there was no alcohol in his system or at least not enough to effect his driving.

No driver in Victoria, to our knowledge, has taken advantage of this opportunity since the amendment was introduced into the Criminal Code a few years ago.

No person is required to give these samples. They can't be admitted as evidence unless the man agrees.

So until some scientific or other method to define "impaired" is set up, the courts have to go by oral evidence, as Magistrate C. Hall noted this week.

Churchill Warns Catastrophe Must Follow U.S.-U.K. Split

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill warned Sunday night that a split between Britain and the United States

"would surely lead sooner or later to a catastrophe such as mankind has never known."

In a speech, recorded for a Freedom House anniversary dinner, the former British prime minister said: "I believe in the essential and fundamental unity of the English-speaking people—not at the expense of other countries, nor by the creation of elaborate machinery, but as the natural realization of a great truth. The safety of the world depends upon it."

Key Figure Surrenders In Phenix City Murder
PHOENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—Former state attorney-general, S. Garrett surrendered Monday under an indictment charging him with murdering A. L. Patterson. Patterson was slain shortly after he was nominated attorney-general on an anti-crime platform to succeed Garrett last year. Garrett returned voluntarily after extended treatment for mental illness in a Galveston, Tex., sanatorium. He was confined to jail after surrendering to sheriff Lamar Murphy.

TO EQUALIZE OPPORTUNITY

$7 Million Needed In Student Awards

EDMONTON (CP)—A Canadian education expert wants the federal government to implement a $7,000,000 scholarship program to equalize educational opportunities in Canada. M. E. LaZerte, an executive of the Canadian Trustees' Association, told 50 delegates to the 19th annual convention of the National Federation of Canadian University Students Sunday:

"Canada must have an equalization of opportunity for schoolchildren and of educational costs to the provinces."

He suggested the wealthiest province should maintain its own scholarship program and the $7,000,000 be spent to bring the less wealthy provinces to the level of that one.

He said educational costs per student vary in Canada's 10 provinces from $86 to $232 and this difference must be leveled out.

Earlier in the day Jiri Pelikan of Prague, Czechoslovakia, president of the International Union of Students, invited Canadian students to participate in tours through Iron Curtain countries.

He also suggested that students from those countries visit Canada and exchange of athletic and cultural groups be organized.

Six Killed, Ten Hurt In Vienna Plane Crash

VIENNA (Reuters)—At least six persons were reported killed and 10 others were injured when a Yugoslav airliner with 29 persons on board crashed and burst into flames outside Vienna Monday.

An American embassy spokesman said there were seven Americans on the plane, including soldiers and a diplomatic courier. At least two escaped with slight scratches. One was seriously hurt.

The plane, with 25 passengers and a crew of four, crashed in bad weather as it came in to land at Vienna, a stopping point on its Belgrade-London run.

Police cordoned off the area Monday night and the Vienna fire brigade was clearing the wreckage.

Police Hunt Mainland For Escaped Prisoner

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police are hunting an Oakalla prisoner who escaped from Vancouver General Hospital Sunday night while under guard. William Walker, 18, was under going treatment at the hospital. Details of the escape were not made known. Walker had been in Oakalla awaiting a new trial on a charge of armed robbery with violence. The charge was laid in connection with a holdup at Clinton, B.C.

CHEVROLET WINS THE BIGGEST ONE OF ALL

Climaxing a brilliant season of stock car victories, Chevrolet walked away with the big one — the NASCAR* 500-Mile Race at Darlington, S. Carolina. Chevy outran everything, from the "big cars" on down, to win both first and second — and seven out of the top ten places! More proof-in-action of the qualities that mean safer driving for you!

What the World Series is to baseball, the Darlington 500-Mile is to stock car racing. It's the number one event of its kind. The toughest competitive test of cars and drivers.

And Chevrolet won this year's "500" hands down. Not only won, but swept the first two places, finishing ahead of a raft of high-priced, high-powered cars.

The closest car in Chevrolet's field finished in fifth place! What's the answer? Simply that it takes more than raw horsepower to be a winner on the stock car tracks. It takes whiplash acceleration, superior cornering ability and handling ease, rock-solid stability—the same qualities that mean safer driving for you on the highway. And Chevrolet's got them like nobody else!

Doesn't that sound like a good reason for you to come in to Wilson's and drive a new Chevrolet right away? When you do, we'll show how easy we're making it to own the winner these days!

THE SAFER CAR WINS

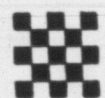

and CHEVROLET is the big WINNER!

CHEVROLET IS THE SALES LEADER, TOO!

★ Latest figures show Chevrolet Sales for 1955 to be moving well ahead of its nearest competitor. In Victoria, too, more Chevrolets have been sold than any other make in eight out of the first nine months this year, adding up to a whopping 2-to-1 lead over its nearest rival. The tremendous volume of Chevrolet and other G.M. Sales enables Chevrolet to be priced at a figure lower than any other car in its field!

LONGEST VICTORY-LIST OF ANY 1955 CAR!

You can see right here who's champ of the stock car tracks! In every one of these "big league" races, Chevrolet was the winner—and the victory-list is still growing!

Cyprus Terrorists Steal Arms; 'Economic New Deal' Offered

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) in Famagusta early Monday—Eight masked terrorists broke into a British army warehouse and escaped with cases of arms and ammunition.

SLEEPLESSNESS

RELAXA-TABS

Are you one of the thousands of people who lie awake at night tossing and turning—a victim of "nervous tension"—physically tired but unable to relax? Tonight, take two Relaxa-Tabs twenty minutes before retiring, preferably with a glass of milk, and feel yourself drift off into a natural healthy sleep, a sleep which will leave you well rested and refreshed in the morning. RELAXA-TABS contain no opiates or habit-forming drugs.

The daring raid was the first terrorist attempt to steal arms in quantity from a major Cyprus town since Eoka, the outlawed terrorist organization spearheading the enosis union with Greece movement, began operations early this spring.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Governor Sir John Harding Sunday night promised Cyprus an economic new deal and urged the restive islanders to hold off their demands for total independence in favor of a early self-government.

In a radio broadcast, Harding told Cypriots that an elected Cyprus government, already proposed by Britain, would be able to "express its views" on Cyprus future status after it was established.

He said he would soon offer the British government specific proposals for the social and economic development of the island.

Unmarried Mothers Given Help, Understanding at Chest Agency

By TONY DICKASON
Jane came to the Family and Children's Service when she was six months pregnant. The Community Chest agency solved her problem. These are the circumstances.

She had arrived in Victoria from the interior of B.C., a small town there, and had worked right up until leaving. But Jane couldn't bear the shame and embarrassment to her parents, so she left before anyone knew her trouble. She was 23.

The parents' were well-respected people; good churchgoers. Perhaps they were too "good" because Jane always got scolded when she came home from parties, whether out late or not. In fact, there was a lot of scolding and not much praise as Jane remembers it.

WANTED LOVE
Still, she had a strong sense of duty to her parents and dearly wanted their love.

When Bill came along last spring to work in her town she liked him. They fell in love. Bill was married but didn't get along with his wife. All he wanted, he told Jane, was to marry her. When she became pregnant Bill still wanted to help her, but the divorce, somehow, never got started. When Jane came to the FCS she was of two minds about the baby-to-be. But gradually, as she talked the problem over with the social worker, things became clearer.

TOO LATE
If Bill and she couldn't marry, the baby couldn't go home with her to her parents. She couldn't see bringing it up without a name. Even if Bill and she married later, it would still be too late to save the baby's good name—and that of her parents. Jane decided on adoption for the child's sake.

When the baby, a girl, was born, Jane went through the struggle all over again, coming up with the same answers. Finally she arranged to go back to the hospital with the social worker—to see her baby for the first and last time.

She took it bravely, and returned to the F & CS with the social worker to talk about the adopting family who wanted her child.

They seemed to her the right people for the baby. Jane signed her consent to give up her child with a tremendous feeling of sureness and peace. Last year 416 unmarried parents were helped by the service, and the agency placed 54 children on adoption; supervised 204 whose adoption was waiting completion, and completed 84 adoptions.

Bomb Explodes Among 1,000 at Broadway Movie

NEW YORK (AP)—A crude bomb, believed by police to have been fashioned by "the same maniac" who left similar devices in other public places recently, exploded Sunday in a crowded Broadway movie house.

One person was injured slightly. There was no panic among the estimated 1,000 moviegoers.

The bomb, a small stubby device, was made of a capped length of iron pipe about two inches in diameter and about four inches long. Police said the detonator was timed by a cheap watch-works. It had been placed under an unoccupied seat through a slit in the upholstery.

Williams Jones, 37, sitting four seats away from where the bomb had been placed, suffered a bruised instep.

The big quiz program at the moment is: How much will you give to the Community Chest?

COPS' SHELTER GOES UP IN SMOKE—Passersby and CIO-UAW strikers watch fire destroy an unoccupied house in front of the Perfect Circle Corp. plant at New Castle, Ind.,

as 1,200 demonstrators dispersed after a gun battle between union and non-union employees. The house was being used as a shelter for police on duty in front of the plant.

Indiana Orders Martial Law After 8 Shot in Strike Riots

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Governor George Craig Monday proclaimed martial law for New Castle, Ind., and the Perfect Circle Corporation promptly announced plans to reopen its foundry where eight persons were shot during strike violence last Wednesday.

The United Auto Workers (CIO), whose members are on strike at the piston ring firm, protested the governor's action as "putting property rights above human rights."

Martial law means the National Guard will be in full charge of law enforcement in the area around New Castle, as well as the nearby town of Hagerstown home plant of Perfect Circle, and in company areas in Richmond, Ind.

Mother, 2 Children Feared Dead in Fire

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—A police guard has been placed around the charred ruins of a home in which a mother and her two children are believed to have been burned to death Saturday.

Police probing through the ruins have found bones which they believe to be human.

Mrs. Phyllis Malek, 27, and her daughters, Barbara, 6, and Patricia, 4, are thought to have been trapped inside when the fire started.

Search of the ruins is continuing.

Austrian Cardinal Dies of Heart Attack

By ERIC WAHA
VIENNA (AP)—Theodor Cardinal Innitzer, 79, who once was stoned by the Nazis and later became a centre of Austrian resistance to the Communists died Sunday of a heart ailment.

The death of the head of the Roman Catholic Church in Austria was announced over the radio by Archbishop-Coadjutor Dr. Franz Jachym. Church bells tolled throughout Austria, which is nearly 90 per cent Roman Catholic.

Dr. Jachym said the cardinal underwent surgery recently. He said a heart condition started developing Thursday. Disturbances of the circulatory system were reported early Sunday, followed by a new heart attack. Blue-eyed, ascetic Cardinal Innitzer, an early critic of communism, figured prominently under three Austrian governments and held a cabinet post in one of them as minister of Social Administration.

Before Hitler's Anschluss enveloped Austria in 1938, the cardinal assailed the Nazis as a "pestilence" and a "craze against which we must build a dam." Hitler youth mobs attacked his palace and he was injured by a stone thrown during a Nazi demonstration.

After the Anschluss the cardinal signed a declaration urging Austrians to support Hitler, but later expressed disappointment with efforts to reach agreement on Church questions with the Nazis. Enthroned as archbishop in 1932, he was created a cardinal the following year. His death raises to eight the number of vacancies in the 70-member College of Cardinals.

Service Clubs Unbeaten In City Grid

Venture 58, Vampires 0.
Royal Roads 22, Oak Bay 0.
Venture and Royal Roads are heading for a showdown in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League and Ron Binnie is making a runaway of the individual scoring race.

The two service teams maintained their unbeaten records as they prepared to square off next Sunday, as both won week-end victories. Venture ran wild for a 58-0 victory over Mayo Vampires Sunday at Macdonald Park, while Royal Roads downed Oak Bay 22-0 at Creery Field.

Winner of next Sunday's clash between the service teams will likely be named to represent Victoria in the B.C. junior playoffs.

Venture, after squeaking past Oak Bay 14-6 the previous week, found the range against Vampires Sunday, scoring nine touchdowns.

Don Wallace, Chuck Thomas and Charlie Young each scored a pair of majors, while Jim Gibbons, Gary Logan and Dave Matheson scored single touchdowns.

Pat Rogers did most of the ground-gaining for Vampires. Gerald Burton of Vampires and Pierre Robitoux of Venture were put out of the game for fighting and will face additional one-game suspensions.

BINNIE STARS
Binnie, Royal Roads' quarterback, who scored four touchdowns and two converts against Vampires the previous week, added a touchdown, a field goal, three converts and a single against Oak Bay Sunday.

Binnie scored his single and field goal in the first quarter and converted after Doug Brown's touchdown. Binnie scored on a five-yard quarterback sneak and converted in the second quarter and converted Brown's second major, scored on a 10-yard romp over tackle in the third quarter.

Oak Bay was led by the passing of Willie Dawson, the passing of Phil Willis and the running of Ed Longpre and Norm Dixon.

Archbishop Against Pro Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP) — Most Rev. William M. Duke, Roman Catholic archbishop of Vancouver, has spoken out against professional Sunday sports.

He told a religious service Friday night: "To play a game on Sunday is one thing; to work at it for hire is another."

Archbishop Duke said service work on Sunday can only be excused on the basis of piety, charity and real necessity.

Stranahan Tops Tourney

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Stranahan won his first golf tournament as a professional Sunday with a one-under-par 71 on the final round for a one-stroke victory over Art Wall Jr. in the $17,500 Eastern Open for a total of 280 and the $3,000 first prize.

By CENTAUR
Victoria's first flat-racing season in seven years ended Monday in a blaze of glory bright enough to ensure the return of the thoroughbreds in 1956.

The sun shone most of the afternoon, the grandstand was filled to capacity, and the out-field rail was lined with cheering fans. It was like old times.

And for next year, according to W. Randall, general manager of the Colwood-Racing Association, things will be different and better.

There will be more horses and more jockeys on the grounds, the grandstand will be enclosed to keep out the elements that took some of the joy out of the sport these last two weeks, and other facilities will be improved. Monday, with more than 5,000 in attendance, a Sandown record of $84,312 was wagered, bringing the 14-day total to approximately $550,000.

These figures, of course, mean a financial loss to the racing association, which, says Mr. Randall, was not excessive and justifies continuance of the Victoria meeting.

The racing itself, Monday, as it has most of the week, ran reasonably true to form, with only three winners out of the eight paying double figures on the mutual board and most of the short-priced favorites being in contention.

Cocos Repeats Win in Feature
The featured seventh race at a mile and 70 yards was the third triumph for the Golden Green Stable, whose Cocos, trained by P. W. Gauthier, repeated her brilliant win of two Saturdays ago.

Sivewright, who rode him and who incidentally won the watch as top jockey for the meeting, had plenty of work to do.

He took the horse off the pace for more than half a mile, and found himself blocked when trying to get through on the rail. But Cocos was a running horse and in spite of being taken up, she won by a head.

Two Dance Dances; Lucy's Doll Scores
It was the last race which showed how strangely the mutual pools can turn out.

The winner, Two Dance, paid $16.20 to win while his companion in the one-two, Blue Edge starting at nearly three to one, yielded $3.90 for a place bet. The quinella place brought some sighs of disappointment when it was posted as $18.50.

The Grey Skies gelding Lord Glenlivet made no mistake about the fifth, an affair for three-year-olds. Jumping out of the gate to a quick two-length lead he was in command all the way and gave Jockey Patton a rocking-chair ride to win by six lengths.

Chief Mathias, backed down to approximately even money trailed the field from start to finish.

The track was officially designated as muddy but the times established were considerably better than opening day here two weeks ago, indicating that it has settled well and will be in excellent condition next year.

Drakes Whip Vamps, Near City Grid Title

Oak Bay Drakes, crushing Vampires, 27-0, at Macdonald Park Monday afternoon, assured themselves of at least a tie for the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football Union championship.

Drakes now have a four-point lead over second-place Navy, whom they battled to a 12-12 tie Saturday. Drakes have one game to play, while Navy has two, one against each of the Drakes and the Vampires. Monday's loss knocked last-place Vampires out of the running for a playoff spot.

The explosive charges of backs Len Scott and Red White led the Drakes to victory over the Vampires. Scott scored three of the five Oak Bay touchdowns, with White picking up the other two.

Starting a drive at their own five-yard line late in the first period, Drakes drove down to the Vampires 35 before being forced to kick. Casey O'Gorman made the kick good. Vampires Charlie Bishop being roughed for the first point of the game.

25-YARD RUN
Minutes later, after a short kick by Vampires had left Drakes within sight of pay dirt, Scott went 25 yards over the right side for a major. He kicked the only successful convert of the afternoon to make the score 7-0, Oak Bay.

Oak Bay quarterback Don Hendry took to the air late in the half, and after picking up two quick first downs, tossed a

Cougars Edge Canucks For Third Straight Win

Scrappy Display By Locals

SATURDAY
Victoria 4, Seattle 2

It may sound like kid stuff to some, but a little bit of the old rah-rah quality is going a long way for Victoria's Cougars.

Coach Eddie Olson burst into the team dressing room late Monday afternoon, shouting: "That's the way to go, gang!" There was little need to explain Olson's enthusiasm.

The Cougars had just edged Vancouver Canucks, 3-2, for third straight victory in the infant Western Hockey League season, their third victory in four days, and undisputed possession of first place in the western division.

And their triumph was accomplished with the dash that exemplifies the six rookies in the line-up and a rookie coach leading them with a will-to-win spirit that has yet to be denied.

Saturday night at Seattle, they accomplished No. 2 in that string with a 4-2 victory over the Americans.

Tonight they bid for No. 4 at Vancouver against the Canucks whose defeat Monday was their first.

This was a typical holiday encounter with action plus the keynote, particularly in the final two and one-half minutes.

With Doug Anderson serving a penalty, coach Pat Egan of the Canucks pulled goalie Ray Mikulan at 17:40. The Canucks stormed the Cougar goal and were rewarded with a goal by Phil Maloney, but try as they could they couldn't get the equalizer.

It was a frenzied finish with Eddie Olson and Doug Macauley both missing the empty Canuck net by inches on long clearing shots.

Before that the Cougars had outplayed the Canucks with a hustling performance that paralleled their season's opener, a 4-1 triumph over the New Westminster Royals Friday.

ONE APIECE
Leading the assault was Wayne Brown, Skip Teal, Mark Marquess unit. Each got a goal.

Marquess got to his open scoring in the second period on a three-man rink-length play with Brown and Teal as he sped in fast to slap Brown's rebound off the post over the line. The goal was first awarded to Brown, but later the correction was made.

Brown's counter to put the Cougars ahead 2-0 came early in the third after the Doug Macauley, Doug Anderson, Colin Kilmour threesome had given Mikulan a busy time and all three were outlucked in not finding the help.

Indirectly—or if you were to ask Egan—directly, Marquess assisted in the unassisted counter. It was while Egan was attempting to resolve something or other with Marquess that Brown picked up the unattended puck and fired a partially screened shot into the far corner of the net.

BREAKAWAY
Teal got the eventual winner midway through the final period on a break from the red line, Floyd Hillman providing the feeding pass. He came in from the left side and beat Mikulan with a hard shot to the left corner.

Cougars had the more clear-cut opportunities in the game. Kilmour forcing Mikulan to make a spectacular save shortly after Brown's second goal, and Anderson, Teal and Belliveau having other tries from close in.

The Canucks made it close during the final 10 minutes. Skip McKay, who numbers last in the line-up, broke Pelletier's charm with a high, snap shot to the corner on a pass-out from behind the net by Ray Cyr at 11:41, and shortly before Teal got his breakaway.

Maloney's goal was the result of terrific pressure by the Canucks. Pelletier seconds earlier having saved from Carl Kaiser on the doorstep and at least four other screened drives by the Canucks that all were labelled.

MACAULEY GETS TWO
Saturday night at Seattle, the Cougars struck fast against the Americans. They took a 2-1 lead in the first period on goals by Doug Macauley and Mark Marquess, added another in the second by Skip Teal while the Americans were short-handed, and got the clincher through Macauley in the third frame after the Americans had battled back to a 3-2 count.

Bandiera Disclosing Stamp Plays?

REGINA (CP)—Guard Dean Bandiera has been cut by Calgary Stampers because he allegedly disclosed some of his team's plays to Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night. Jack Rowand, president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said Monday.

CALGARY (CP)—Coach Al Sherman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers described as "utterly ridiculous" reports that he had been told by centre Dean Bandiera of Calgary Stampers that he was to use in last Saturday's game.

"I have no further comment," Sherman told reporters.

Bandiera indicated to some of the Winnipeg players which plays Stampers were going to use," said Rowand, who was in Calgary to watch the Stampers lose 13-12 to the Bombers.

"He was just a little free in talking to the Winnipeg boys, and that's all there is to it. I don't think it really mattered much because they, Winnipeg, probably already knew the Calgary plays anyway."

As a result, "Bandiera was cut from the club," Rowand added.

The WIFU president said he believes it is the first time in league history that a player has been released by his team for this reason.

Earlier, league commissioner Syd Halter of Winnipeg said here that Bandiera had not been suspended by the league. "No action has been taken and none is contemplated," he said.

Halfback Henry Ford, a new import playing his first game, caught a touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Dubinski with only 10 seconds to play to give Toronto Argonauts a thrilling 16-15 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a Big Four Football Union game Monday.

Ford made a brilliant catch deep in the end zone to tie the score and end Al Pfeifer, with the pressure on him, converted the touchdown for the game winning point.

Montreal Alouettes completed a week-end rout of Ottawa Rough Riders with a 43-6 triumph in the other Thanksgiving Day Big Four contest. The Alouettes had things all their own way as they did Saturday when they whipped Ottawa 35-7.

The Argonauts and the Ticats split their week-end series. Hamilton won Saturday's game 15-11 with a scoring spurge in the closing minutes.

The results left Montreal in sole possession of first place, two points in front of the Ticats. Toronto is third, four points back of Hamilton and two in front of cellar-dwelling Ottawa.

Sarnia Imperials downed winless Toronto Balmy Beach 33-16 Monday in a Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union game, paced by Geno Cappelletti who scored a touchdown and kicked a field goal and five converts.

Pfeifer was on the spot in the Big Four game at Toronto when he booted the convert on Ford's touchdown. He had missed on the attempts for Argos' two other touchdowns, both scored by him on passes from Dubinski. But he made good on the third attempt as the crowd of 19,060 went wild. Johnny Fedosoff, an Argonaut castoff, broke through the Toronto line to run 80 yards for one of the Ticats' two touchdowns. Frank McDonald, All-American end from Miami University, counted the other on a seven-yard pass from Nobby Wirkowski. Ray Truant converted both touchdowns and kicked a 12-yard field goal.

Montreal Canadiens dominated Boston Bruins 5-2 Sunday night for their third victory of the young National Hockey League season while Detroit Red Wings, last year's Stanley Cup champions, went down to their third defeat in a row.

The Red Wings suffered a 3-2 setback at the hands of New York Rangers after losing 4-2 to Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday night.

In Sunday's third game, Chicago Black Hawks turned back the Leafs 3-1.

The Canadiens blanked Boston Bruins 2-0 Saturday night as goalie Jacques Plante racked up his second shutout in as many starts.

STREAK SNAPPED

Plante ran his scoreless streak to 15 minutes before it was snapped by Lorne Ferguson. Leo Bolvin tallied for the Bruins 37 seconds later. Both goals came in the second period of the Sunday night game in Boston.

Big Jean Beliveau powered the Montreal attack with one goal and two assists. The other habitant marksmen were Don Marshall, Maurice Richard, Dollard St. Laurent and Ken Mosdell.

Goals by Don Raleigh, Danny Lewicki and Ron Murphy sparked the Rangers to their victory over Detroit at Olympia Stadium.

WINGS FIGHT BACK

The rejuvenated Rangers rolled to a 2-0 lead in the opener on markers by Raleigh and Lewicki. But they had to fight off a furious Red Wing rally in the third session. Murphy's goal proved the clincher midway in the period.

Gordie Howe spoiled goalie Lorne Worsley's shutout bid when he scored early in the final period while Ranger Lou Fontinato was serving a tripping penalty. Warren Godfrey, traded from Boston, sniped Detroit's second goal with both teams short-handed.

Al Rollins celebrated his 29th birthday by tending goal in spectacular fashion for the Black Hawks as they whipped Toronto in Chicago. The angular netminder, who battled hard to hold his job during the team's training session, handled 36 shots during the game compared to 27 for Toronto's chunky Harry Lumley.

Harry Watson tallied midway through the opening period to start Chicago on the victory road. Rookie Hank Ciesla picked up another for the Hawks early in the second frame before Ted Sloan counted the Leafs' lone marker of the night. Ciesla's goal was his first in the NHL.

WRAPS IT UP
Allan Stanley wrapped it up for the Black Hawks in the third period with a high drive that bounced off Toronto defenceman Hugh Bolton's arm and into the net.

FORMER BALL STAR Howie Fox Stabbed To Death

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Howie Fox, former major league pitcher who was with the Texas League's San Antonio club last season, was stabbed to death early Sunday outside his home here.

Police said the 34-year-old athlete was killed in a fight with three youths he had ordered out of the tavern for creating a disturbance.

Fox pitched for Cincinnati Reds, Philadelphia Phillies and Baltimore Orioles in the majors and with Syracuse Chiefs of the International League in 1947.

Police said that while they were hunting for the youths they were arrested at city jail. A 20-year-old college student held for questioning but not charged said Fox hit him over the head during the fight. His two companions were held as material witnesses. They said they did not know Fox was fatally wounded.

Don't be surprised if one of these days you see a coal truck guy loaded with shining stuff that certainly doesn't look like coal.

One big coal company now sprays its anthracite with aluminum paint. Not only makes it cleaner to handle; it burns better, too.

We note, too, that aluminum is involved in another fuel operation—this time in capturing heat from the sun.

An aircraft company operates a solar furnace that focuses the sun's rays by means of a 120-inch aluminum reflector to create temperatures up to 5,500 F. It is used to test materials under extreme heat.

Tony to Turn Pro If Lew, Ken Willing

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—Arch Trabert, father of Tony Trabert, said today he "wouldn't be surprised if Tony turned professional."

The elder Trabert commented on a meeting in Los Angeles between his son, United States and Wimbledon champion, with promoter Jack Kramer.

"If Kramer can induce the Australians (Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall) to turn professional, Tony is almost certain to go pro," the father said.

Reports from Los Angeles had it that Trabert had been offered a guarantee of $50,000 and would sign a contract. But recently when Tony's father and attorney brother considered Kramer's offer, the reported guarantee was $75,000 to $80,000.

Observers with an eye to the calendar predicted a decision soon, due to desirability of having income from the first year spread over the 1955 and 1956 income tax periods to lessen the load.

Meanwhile, Australian firms employing Hoad and Rosewall made offers to the young stars designed to thwart Kramer's offers and keep them amateur.

Roughies, Bombers Near Playoff Berths

The Western Interprovincial Football Union week-end games almost set after week-end games.

Edmonton Eskimos have clinched first place and a bye into the finals of the three-team playoffs.

Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers appear to have a big bulge to grab the other two spots but their final positions are undecided.

British Columbia Lions, now fourth, have only a slim chance of overtaking Saskatchewan or Winnipeg.

Calgary's points came from touchdowns by end Willie Roberts and quarterback Don Klosterman and a field goal, two converts and a single by end Tom Miner.

Calgary Stampeders, in last place, have only a mathematical chance of edging out Winnipeg for the third playoff berth.

Saturday, Eskies trounced Lions 35-2 at Edmonton and Winnipeg edged the Stamps 13-12 at Calgary.

Monday at Regina the Roughriders defeated Calgary 18-12 and Winnipeg took British Columbia 18-4 at Vancouver.

Frankie Filchok's Roughriders, with one more game to play than the other four teams in the loop, made progress toward clinching the second spot by coming from behind twice to edge Stampeders behind the Lions.

It was a fourth-quarter touch-down by speedy Pete Thodos, a Calgary castoff, that sunk the Stamps.

Halfbacks Ken Marlow and Ken Carpenter counted the other Saskatchewan touchdowns and Joe (The Toe) Aguirre, the veteran who gained an import slot in a last-minute change, converted all touchdowns.

Calgary's points came from touchdowns by end Willie Roberts and quarterback Don Klosterman and a field goal, two converts and a single by end Tom Miner.

Bays Edge Champions To Take Soccer Lead

JBA took over temporary possession of first place in the Victoria and District Football League division one standings Monday afternoon, edging defending champion Heaneys, 2-1 at Athletic Park.

Sunday, Vic defeated Esquimalt 4-3 at Heywood Park to move into a second-place tie with Heaneys.

In Monday's contest, all the scoring was confined to the first half. Tim Walker opened up the scoring for Heaneys at the 20-minute mark. Charlie Constable tied it up for AA at 35 minutes, and five minutes later Gary Fynn drove home the winner.

Sunday, Jake Blevins scored all Esquimalt goals to give the Dockers a 3-0 lead at half-time. Wests came storming back in the second half with Charlie Forrester scoring two quick goals. Denny Atkinson then tied the score up and Forrester completed his hat trick by netting the winner.

In second division action over the week-end, Brodie's Bakery defeated Dutch Wanderers, 4-3, at Central Park Sunday, and Canadian Scottish battled to a 2-2 draw with Butlers at Windsor Park Saturday.

Sunday's Tillamook vs. Duncan match at Duncan was postponed because of rain.

TREE CRISP Apple Pie

Pastry for 9-inch pie.
7 cups thinly sliced B. C. apples
1 cup sugar 1 tablespoon butter

Prepare pastry. Wipe, quarter, core, peel and slice apples, then measure. Arrange apples in layers in pastry-lined deep 9-inch pie plate. Sprinkle each layer with sugar. Dot top layer with small pieces of butter. Cover with top crust. Place pie on lowest rack in oven preheated to 450 degrees F. (very hot oven). Bake for 10 minutes then reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) and bake for 30 to 35 minutes longer. Delicious served warm or cold.

TREE CRISP Apple Roll

Roll out biscuit dough to 1/8 inch thickness. Spread with layer of diced apples; sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll like jelly roll, cut into 1-inch slices, and place slices cut-side down in good-sized greased baking pan.

Make a sauce by mixing together 2 cups brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter and 2 cups boiling water. Stir until sugar is dissolved and sauce is smooth. Pour over the pinwheel slices and bake in moderately hot oven (375 F.) for about 25 minutes.

TREE CRISP Cinnamon Apples

1 cup water
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 or 2 drops red food coloring
3-inch stick cinnamon
6 medium-sized apples

Make syrup of water, sugar, vinegar, coloring and spice; simmer 5 minutes. Add peeled, cored and halved apples. Cook gently until barely tender, turning and basting during cooking.

Remove from syrup and serve hot or cold. Apples will become somewhat darker when chilled. Serves 6.

TREE CRISP Apple Salad

4 B. C. apples—medium size
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped nuts
(may be added)

Salad dressing

Dice the unpeeled, cored apples and combine with the chopped celery. Mix with mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Serve on crisp lettuce. Serves 6.

EYEWITNESS TELLS OF HITLER'S DEATH

'I Carried His Body Out . . . and Helped Pour Gasoline Over It' Says Valet

BY REINHOLD G. ENSZ

BERLIN (AP) — Two Germans just out of Soviet captivity related eyewitness stories Friday of what happened to Adolf Hitler in the last hours in his Berlin air raid shelter 10 years ago.

The fuhrer's personal valet, Heinz Linge, said he watched a roaring gasoline fire consume Hitler's body, and that of his bride of a day, Eva Braun, who had been his secret mistress for years.

"I carried his body out of the bunker and then helped pour gasoline over it," Linge said. "We watched it burn for about five minutes."

Linge told an interviewer the couple committed suicide in the privacy of their underground boudoir in the massive concrete bunker in the chancellery garden.

"They were alone," Linge said. "Hitler shot himself, Eva Braun took poison."

SAID GOODBYE

The other man, Hitler's personal pilot, Gen. Hans Baur, said at West German's Camp Friedland that he was in the bunker on the day Hitler apparently killed himself—April 30, 1945. Said Baur:

"I went into Hitler's apartment in the bunker to get my last orders. Hitler said goodbye to me then, remarking that he would now take his own life since the military situation had become hopeless."

"I left the apartment and returned to it two hours later, but without entering it. I learned then that while I was gone, Hitler killed himself. But I did not see his body or Eva Braun's body."

But Linge said he carried Hitler's body into the shell-strafed garden which lay above the bunker. Hitler's chauffeur was to bring Eva Braun's body, but failed.

"It was too heavy for him," Linge smiled. He said Hitler's adjutant, Otto Guensche, finally managed to get the body out of the bunker.

FIRST-HAND ACCOUNT

Linge thus became the first man to give the world an eyewitness account of the fuhrer's fiery end.

There is a good chance that both Linge and Baur, who returned to the West Saturday night, will be called to testify before a Berchtesgaden court which is still trying to decide whether Hitler is legally dead.

The fact that Hitler's passing was surrounded by a veil of mystery until now can be attributed to the Russians. Although they thoroughly interrogated Baur and Linge after their capture, they never released details to a curious world.

Linge was captured by the Russians in May, 1945, and held until Saturday night, when he returned to West Berlin with a transport of 116 former prisoners.

Two more freight trains loaded with 1,000 former prisoners reached Camp Friedland in West Germany Friday. This brought to 1,709 the number of Germans released by Russia since Thursday as a result of her agreement last month with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Russia has promised to free a total of 9,626.

After telling how Guensche carried Eva Braun's body out, this was the story Linge related:

DOUSED WITH GASOLINE

The woman's body was dumped on the grass. Hitler's body already had been placed there. Both bodies were doused with gasoline. About 10 men,

U.S. TO FIRE ROCKETS FROM CHURCHILL

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States will fire 33 high-altitude rockets at Churchill, Man., on Hudson Bay during an 18-month period from July, 1957, through December, 1958, a leading researcher says.

Dr. Homer Newell, acting superintendent of the atmosphere and astral-physics division of the U.S. naval research laboratory, told the American Rocket Society in a speech at its meeting here Sunday that during this period the Americans will launch more than twice as many rockets as they have fired in the last 10 years.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H*. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H* suppositories or Preparation H* ointment with special applicator. Preparation H* is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

More Nationalization? No--Say U.K. Laborites

Winning Back the Voters First Convention Objective

By RANALD MACLURKIN

MARGATE, Eng. (Reuters)

The Labor party Monday junked a proposal urging a wholesale nationalization of industry, but agreed on a long-range program to "win back the voters" by 1958.

The party overwhelmingly rejected a left-wing program for socializing several more industries after veteran politician James Griffiths declared "the task we have to undertake is not to sit down and draw up lists of industries to be nationalized."

In the early part of the debate, which opened the annual convention, rank-and-file members demanded that the party adopt "red-blooded Socialist" policies to offset its sweeping defeat at the polls last May.

But late in the afternoon, almost all the 1,246 delegates voted "no" to the Glasgow Labor party's resolution to push for state-ownership of banks, buildings, and of the iron and steel, textile, engineering and ship-building industries.

NO COMPENSATION

The nation's railroads and telephone systems already have been nationalized under labor governments, and the Glasgow proposals called for wholesale confiscation of the private businesses involved—with no compensation paid.

The view of the party leadership, which approves the principle of nationalization, was expressed by Griffiths. He said what is needed is a survey and analysis to help the party decide the future role of nationalized public ownership in the Labor view of society.

Wilfred Heywood, chairman of the economic committee of the powerful Trades Union Con-

Bevan Suffers Heavy Labor Party Reverse

MARGATE, England (CP)—

British Labor's leading left-winger, Aneurin Bevan, was heavily defeated today in elections for the post of treasurer of the Labor party.

His rival, Hugh Gaitskell, of the moderate section, of the party, was appointed for the second year running. Voting at the party's annual conference was 5,475,000 card votes for Gaitskell against 1,225,000 for Bevan.

Gaitskell's victory had been expected ever since the big trade unions threw their support behind him, but this margin of victory brought whistles of surprise from the delegates. Bevan polled about 750,000 fewer votes than last year, when he first challenged Gaitskell for the key post.

The Welshman knew he had no chance of victory, but insisted on fighting the election as a protest against the giant "block" votes of the unions, which he claims overwhelm the party's true character and policies.

The victory gives Gaitskell a place on the national executive, the party's highest policy-making body.

LEADERSHIP CANDIDATE

Politicians here now say that the decline in Bevan's popularity means that Gaitskell, who was chancellor of the exchequer in the Attlee government, has edged a fairly big step nearer ultimate leadership of the party. But in today's elections for the 28-member national executive Bevan's six chief adherents retained their seats decisively.

Top of the poll in the section elected by the local labor parties—traditionally where the main left-wing strength lies—was Bevanite Harold Wilson. He had 1,066,000 votes, a slight increase over his total last year.

Wilson, 39, headed a committee which produced a stinging report blaming bad party organization for Labor's defeat at the last general election. The report was to be debated in closed session later today.

Other left-wingers re-elected to the executive were Mrs. Barbara Castle, Anthony Greenwood, R. H. S. Crossman, Tom Driberg and Ian Mikardo.

The other member re-elected by the local parties was James Griffiths, veteran moderate of the party.

Gaitskell and Bevan, along with the 67-year-old Herbert Morrison, deputy leader, are among the three most prominently mentioned to lead the party when Clement Attlee steps down. Attlee, 72 and ailing, is expected to resign as leader within a few months.

200-Year-Old Sunken French Fleet Found

LOUISBOURG, N.S. (CP) —

"I've found the French fleet," an excited frogman said Sunday night. "I think it's the greatest archeology discovery in North America."

It was John Sweeney of Halifax who has been probing the waters off Louisbourg for five French vessels sunk nearly 200 years ago during a British siege of the French stronghold.

Besides the ships he said he found seven old cannon, two or three stubby mortars, pig iron ballast and 14 cannon balls, all encrusted with rust and heavily corroded.

The five ships were strung across Louisbourg harbor in 1758 in an effort to "save the French possession. They were tied together with a huge chain and scuttled to block the entrance.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

So it's hash, so what do you expect on the day after Thanksgiving?

And remember the turkey next time you are about to stick your neck out.

Observant passers-by on Douglas street, near the fountain circle, have noticed a small garden under cultivation outside the Victoria Press building.

The greater area of the garden is devoted to ornamental shrubs.

But never fear. The management has thoughtfully reserved suitable space for Between Times' own private corn patch.

Which reminds me, there is some talk of making the fountain circle the non-fountain triangle.

Appropriate enough. Like the triangle, the traffic problem is eternal.

It must be a great relief to the two-dollar bettors, now the Sandown race meet is over. They can start recovering from breaking even.

International observers say Premier Edgar Faure's action in accepting the Socialist motion was "humiliating." But it is believed the Premier himself said: "Tis a Faure, Faure better thing I do than I have ever done before."

(Say, that corn patch is sprouting already.)

One of the papers (not this one) reports a fishboat "floundering" off the northern tip of Vancouver Island. Out after flatfish, no doubt.

With 1,500 loggers assembling for the 46th annual Pacific Logging Congress, it appears the Empress Hotel would be the ideal place for a man with an axe to grind.

In the frantic rush to out-giveaway other giveaway programs, a TV show plans to dish out an oil well to contestants on a quiz show.

If it takes after the master of ceremonies, the well will be a gusher.

My own feeling is, TV giveaway programs would do better if they could give away a little sound entertainment.

Ah, well, stick around. Tomorrow it's pork and beans.

Bail was set at $1,500 in city police court today for Albert Liverne Dobbins, 40, 1052 Johnson, when he pleaded not guilty to a burglary charge.

Dobbins was remanded to next Monday for trial on a charge of breaking and entering and theft Monday at Mais Electric, 1821 Cook.

Police said he was arrested near the scene at about 1:30 a.m.

Sanich police today were investigating a week-end break-in at the Gordon Head camp trailer shop of Murdoch-Girard Ltd. Proprietor Brent Murdoch said some clothing was taken. He estimated his loss would be "very little."

The tailor shop, situated near centre of the camp, was entered by forcing a door and clothes were strewn about the premises. Army officials were notified of the theft this morning and Sanich police were called in to investigate.

A city man made the mistake of opening the wrong door Saturday night at Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government, and landed in hospital.

Police said Mike Malachowski, 35, 585 John, apparently opened a different door than he thought he was opening and fell down seven concrete steps, knocking himself unconscious. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and released.

Only Depression Can Beat Smallwood, Says Tory Mayor

Liberal Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland "won't be defeated unless depression strikes the province," mayor of St. John's, Nfld., and former provincial Progressive Conservative leader H. G. R. Mews said here today.

Newfoundlanders, he said, credited the Liberals with "the magic touch, which has brought them family allowances and old age pensions."

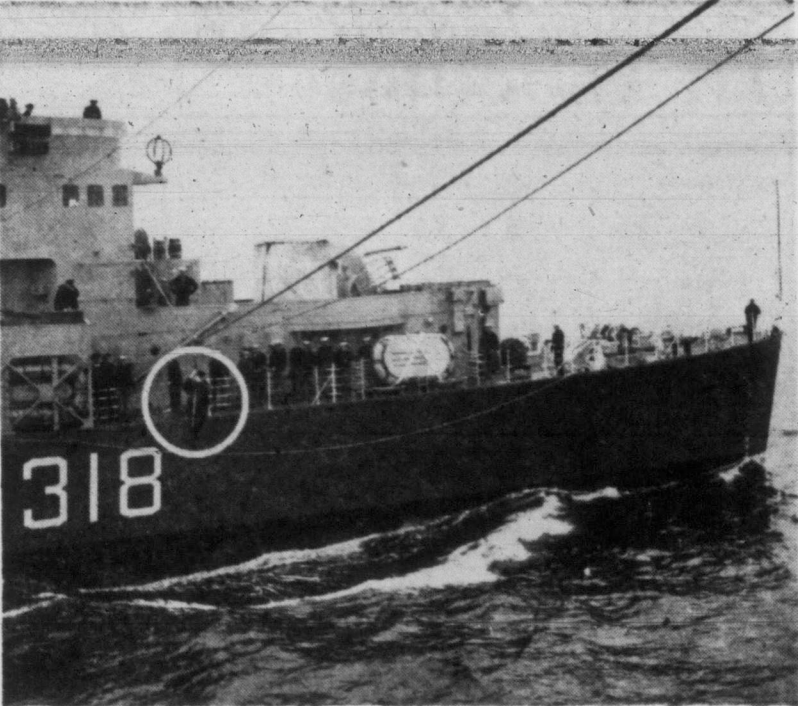

He admitted, with a smile: "I was the Daniel that led them [Newfoundlanders] into the lion's den in 1949," the year of confederation with Canada.

While originally many Newfoundlanders had opposed joining Canada, believing it would hurt trade, such has not proved the case, he said.

EXPORT DEMAND

There has been an upsurge in prices and a demand for exports. Commitments for paper, he said, have been 15 years ahead.

of HMC Dockyard at Esquimalt, Commodore (E) Arthur C. Davy, 52, will go on retirement leave Oct. 17. When he finally leaves the RCN, he will have served in the RCN for close to 39 years. Commodore Davy has been Engineer-in-Chief and Deputy Chief of Naval Technical Services since August, 1949. In 1939 he was appointed director of shipbuilding and is credited with the rapid wartime build-up of the RCN. For his part in the naval shipbuilding program Commodore Davy was appointed an officer of the Order of the British Empire in June, 1946. He was superintendent of dockyard here from 1946 to 1948.

Large Exhibit By Berlin Artist Now at Gallery

The Art Gallery opened today with the largest one-man exhibition it has yet shown—more than 70 oils, watercolors, prints and drawings by the Victoria artist Herbert Siebner, who arrived here from West Berlin just over a year ago.

About half of these have been painted during the past 12 months. Wednesday evening at 8:30 the gallery will put on a special program honoring the artist.

Five Hurt in Holiday Crashes; Drinking Drivers Pay $250 Fines

Five persons were injured in holiday week-end traffic accidents in the Victoria area, and numerous minor crashes were reported to police.

Three drivers appeared in court this morning to face impaired driving charges and another two were to appear in Colwood RCMP court later today.

Admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital for observation Monday was Doreen Gaines, 4134 Torquay.

Mrs. Gaines received leg and ankle injuries when the car she was driving was involved in a two-car, rear-end collision at about 1:42 p.m. Monday at Burnside and Trans-Canada Highway.

Driver of the other car was Gilbert Simmonds, Blenkinsop Road.

Police said Raghilo Stebeck, 18, 1430 Pembroke, had some of her front teeth knocked out and suffered a bruise to her forehead in a two-car accident at about 12:45 p.m. Sunday at Belmont and Bay.

She was a passenger in a car driven south on Belmont by Thor W. Stebeck, which collided with a car travelling west on Bay by Edward J. Longpre, 2441 Mowatt.

The Longpre car went out of control after impact and knocked down about 30 feet of fence before coming to a stop on a lawn at 1467 Bay.

HIT POLE

Jack Bohnet, 46, 1235 Styles, was admitted to hospital for observation after his car crashed into a telephone pole Saturday night on Johnson near Tyee.

Accident occurred at about 11:55 p.m. Force of impact snapped the pole near the top. George Truett, 23, Atkins Road, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a broken blood vessel in his foot following an accident at about 9:40 p.m. Sunday near 409 Dunedin.

Truett was riding a motorcycle when he collided with a car driven by James Brittan, 409 Dunedin.

Cadet Edwin White, HMCS Venture, was taken to navy hospital after the car he was riding in went out of control and crashed Saturday at about 9:35 p.m. on Douglas at Toronto.

Police said the car was driven by James Dixon Spandling, HMCS Venture.

It travelled about 90 feet along a rock embankment before crashing. Damage was $800.

Fines of $250 or 15 days in jail each were imposed on Kenneth

Admiral Pullen Joins Fleet on Manoeuvres

Flag Officer to Inspect Every Ship As Exercise Full House Boosts Tempo

Exercise Full House, largest-scale fleet manoeuvre ever carried out by the RCN on the West Coast, swung into high gear as its second week opened Monday.

Twelve fighting ships, plus auxiliary craft, are operating in the Nanose-Seche area, will move to Juan de Fuca Strait entrance at the end of the week.

Rear Admiral Hugh Pullen, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, left Esquimalt harbor Monday morning aboard the mine-sweeper HMCS Comox to join the fleet and "visit and inspect every ship."

He will wear his flag in HMCS Athabaskan, senior ship in the fleet.

He will transfer from ship to ship at sea by jackstay or hoist chair. Transfer of personnel, as well as stores, at sea is one of the phases of the exercises, which cover most modern naval operations.

The ships left on the exercise a week ago Monday. Since then they have covered co-operative exercises with aircraft, convoy screening and anti-submarine operations, full-scale gunnery practice, torpedo firings, mine-sweeping, night encounter exercises, and routine evolutions such as towing ship.

The final two days of the exercise, in the vicinity of Swiftsure Lightship, will concentrate on convoy formations.

Admiral Pullen will return to base Friday, the fleet at 2 p.m. Saturday.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

On Exercise "Full House" in Georgia Strait, returning 2 p.m. Saturday: Destroyers Athabaskan, Cayuga; Frigates New Glasgow, Stettler, Jonquiere, St. Therese; mine sweepers Comox, James Bay, Fortune; coastal escorts Brockville, Digby; auxiliary vessels Dundurn, Billow, Heatherton.

Gunman Hunted After Hold-Up Of City Cafe

Monterey Cashier Hands Over $350

City police are pressing an around-the-clock search for a lone gunman who held up a cashier and made off with $350 cash from Monterey Restaurant, 2730 Douglas, Saturday night.

The robber, his identity concealed by strips of tape and a false mustache, held up cashier Mrs. Jean Ward at gunpoint and forced her to stuff the money in a paper bag.

Customers at a lunch counter were unaware the robbery was taking place.

It occurred shortly before 8 p.m.

Early reports that the bandit had been in a car with three others persons, and had been served outside by a car hop, have been discounted by police due to a time element.

WASHROOM MAKE-UP

It is now believed the man entered the restaurant and went into a washroom where he taped and pencilled his face.

Mrs. Ward said she was seated behind the cash register counter when she first saw the man, then standing about two feet away.

"I thought he was joking at first, but the gun looked as if it meant business," Mrs. Ward said.

"He told me to 'keep quiet' and handed me a crumpled paper bag and told me to put the money in it."

IMPATIENT

"Quickly, quickly," he snapped.

The man stood behind Mrs. Ward with a gun in her back while she put the bills in the bag.

Mrs. Ward asked him if he "wanted the silver, too?"

"Just the 50-cent pieces," he said.

As he left by the front door, he turned and pointed the gun at Mrs. Ward and said "Keep quiet."

Mrs. Ward said she ran into the kitchen and called the manager, Harry Curry, who called police.

The man was about five feet seven inches tall, slimly built, and was dressed in a raincoat and light hat.

TAPED NOSE

"He had tape across his nose, under his eyes and down the sides of his face. A thin, black mustache had been pencilled on and there were pencil marks on his forehead."

It is not known how the gunman made his getaway.

Police say he may have used a car or might have just walked away.

RCMP set up roadblocks at Colwood, Sooke, Sidney and Duncan when the first report was received that four people were in the getaway car.

Union Aims to Reopen Talks With Employers

Operating engineers in coast lumber mills have voted 70 per cent in favor of a strike to support wage demands, a government-supervised strike ballot count showed today.

The total 171 engineers and firemen employed in steam plants at 22 B.C. lumber and shingle mills, including four in Victoria, threaten to idle between 10,000 and 15,000 other employees in the mills, all members of the International Woodworkers of America.

Ed Callan, business agent of Victoria local 918, said in releasing the count at noon today: "We will attempt to reopen negotiations with employers."

He advised the IWA to press for a review of wage rates paid power plant employees, within their bargaining jurisdiction.

A total 16 out of 20 operations included in the vote voted 100 per cent in favor of strike action. Mr. Callan said.

"The vote emphasized in the opinion of those employees that the companies should review the wage rate paid for our plant staffs. We cannot accept a rate of 21 cents an hour less than the average rate paid men of similar qualifications in other manufacturing industries of this area," Mr. Callan said.

"We're not going to criticize them," he said with regard to the IWA, whose feeling is strong against strike action which would idle its men.

"But they should press for a review of the wage rates paid power plant staffs within their bargaining authority."

The IWA, which includes some engineers and firemen in some coast plants, agreed recently to a two-year contract granting a 10 cents an hour wage boost over the two years.

Scott Staying In Race For Mayoralty

W. A. Scott announced today he is still in the running for the mayoralty, and described as a "misunderstanding" earlier reports he had withdrawn and would run instead for council and police commission.

He said he will issue a statement later which will explain his stand.

Mr. Scott said he had intended to withdraw if he were supported in his aldermanic attempt by Percy Scurrell, who will oppose the mayor in December.

He met with Mr. Scurrell Saturday afternoon and as a result of that meeting he will stay in the mayoralty race.

He said Mr. Scurrell rejected an association between Mr. Scott, Mr. Scott's campaign manager, John Aubry, and Mr. Scurrell's proposed campaign committee.

Assault Charge Laid Against Mayoralty Aspirant

City mayoralty candidate W. A. Scott was charged today by Oak Bay electrical inspector with assault occasioning bodily harm.

He is scheduled to appear in municipal court next Friday.

The charge resulted from an incident last week in the accused's home at 1052 Newport when the inspector, Charles M. Wagget, made an official call.

POWER FAILURE BLAMED ON HUNTERS

Hunters today were blamed for a power failure that darkened homes in Bamerton, the Malahat, Shawnigan and Cobble Hill Saturday night.

"Insulators on the transmission line serving the area had been damaged by rifle bullets," a company spokesman said. "They failed in the heavy rain Saturday night."

The damage was caused on the Sooke Road west of Humpback Road.

"The people who do this kind of damage probably are not aware of the trouble it will cause," the spokesman said.

Freak Mishap Fractures Logger's Skull

Arthur Pratt, 20, of Union Bay, a logging camp signman, suffered a skull fracture in Nanaimo Saturday night while helping a friend start a car.

He was brought to Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment in Nanaimo.

His condition was described at press time today as "critical." According to reports, the car was owned by R. Brandback, Fanny Bay. When it stalled, Pratt sought the help of another driver who offered to push the Brandback car.

Pratt guided the second car to the other, then as the two cars started to move he leaped to the running board of Brandback's car, and fell.

The accident occurred at about 10:30 p.m. Pratt was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital, then was transferred by ambulance to Victoria at 2 p.m. Sunday.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Is there a record of a church being burned in Victoria West about 20 years ago? Maybe it was longer ago than that. A woman who is now 44 was told by her mother that her baptismal record was in that church.—M.B.

A.—No record whatever of the destruction of a Victoria West church by fire has been found by this column. One or two churches which were sold by their congregations were demolished, but a woman resident of Victoria West who was born there and whose memory spans 65 years recalls no such destruction. No account of it has been found in the B.C. Archives. Can it be that in her recounting the woman you quote has confused that part of this city with Vancouver West?

Hillclimb Gives Big Crowd Big Time

Largest entry and biggest crowd in history of Victoria Motorcycle Club hill climb, plus perfect weather, made Monday's running of the annual event most successful on record. Here novice class contestant Henry Lou tackles the climb, run this year as a "tire climb," with chains prohibited, giving small machines better

SHOPPING GUIDE

No More Knitting Guesswork With New Knitting Register

By PENNY SAVER

Back to knitting? Warm socks, mitts and sweaters for chilly winter days... a very good idea. If you're trying out a new pattern, or if you want a little help in keeping to a more familiar one, invest in the Knitting Register that's selling in town. It has a wealth of uses. It is shaped like a small spool, and it fits over the end of any needle, size six to 14, inclusive. The ends of the spool move, to change the numbers which peek through little round holes. These gadgets are made of plastic, and come in blue, red, green and yellow. What do they do? They keep count of rows, and keep tally as you knit; "remember" when to increase or decrease; ensure accurate shaping; count from 0 to 99; check pattern and simplify intricate designs. And the price? Just 25 cents.

While I'm telling you, of all they do is paint the sections work and time savers, I'll introduce you to the new glue container, I saw. It's hand-fast, water resistant, resin-type glue, and it's in a plastic, flexible squirt bottle. Yep, just squeeze the bottle, and out it squirts. A one and a quarter ounce bottle costs 35 cents. You can use it for wood, paper and cloth. For youngsters in school, this is really terrific. No dripping glue, 'cause once you squirt it out, there's no more around the top. They won't be able to break it either, and when it's empty, just fill it up, again from a refill jar.

With the dreary days coming upon us, the children in the house will be just that... in the house. And what will they do to amuse themselves? Well, if they like to play with paints and brushes, as most children do, they'll love the "paint by number" pictures. In a box are 12 liquid colors, in flexible plastic containers, complete with lids. There's a brush, and a sheet of instructions. Four Disney characters are "cut-up" into numbers, and

Auxiliary Thrift Shop To Reopen

Mrs. A. L. Harvey reported at meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee hospital that the Thrift Shop operated by the auxiliary on Cormorant street, was being re-decorated and would open again for business this week. Members were asked to deliver all saleable articles this week.

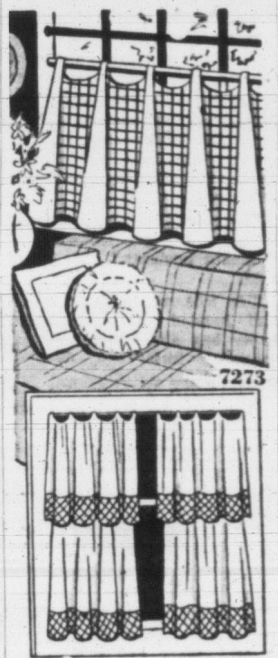

Plans were discussed for the annual bazaar on Nov. 9, in the Nurses Home. Mrs. Frank Skilling, convenor, announced that Mrs. Clark McCarthy will be at her home, 2768 Satellite street this Wednesday afternoon to distribute materials to anyone who can make gifts for the stalls.

Elderly patients were driven from the hospital to their homes and 11 home visits made. Mrs. Fred Bartholomew reported for her committee. Mrs. Harry Kingsley advised that the Mobile Shop at the hospital was now using a new wagon toward which Hubert Wallace had made a substantial donation. This wagon is serviced by members five days a week and covers every ward in the hospital.

New members welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. Frank Weston, Mrs. E. W. Hall, Mrs. Jack M. Chesman, Mrs. William Newton, Mrs. W. O. Cameron and Mrs. T. Harcus.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The exercise you do must be scaled to what you can do with safety and benefit. This is a good one to start on: Raise the legs off the floor as high as you can. Lower. Continue.

Exercise Plays Vital Role in Good Health

I have just written about the effect of the emotions on health. I gave you specific instances in which tension in the muscles can stimulate many of the more serious conditions such as ulcer, indigestion, appendicitis, colitis, and can cause backache, neckache, headache, and so forth. I always have known that vibrant happiness promoted health and prolonged youthful life. Naturally, the exercise you take must be scaled to what you can do with safety and benefit. This depends on whether or first belief and an explanation regularly during past years, on your physical condition, and your age, to some extent. This is a question for your doctor to decide, but I feel sure that unless you have some special condition he will think that exercise of some sort is all to the good.

Perhaps it may be only a daily walk which you gradually increase in speed and length. Exercise is the perfect antidote for most fatigue because most fatigue comes from emotional tension rather than from physical exertion. It takes the kinks out of your tense muscles, which may be causing you trouble in many subtle ways.

I know that it is difficult to take a walk or to do exercises rather than lie on bed after a day which has left you exhausted, but try it. I know that it is hard to discipline oneself to this degree because I myself have that trouble.

Even though I know the value of exercise, I find myself tempted to just lie down, but then after pulling myself up by my bootstraps to take a brisk walk or play pingpong (which is pretty good exercise if you play with fervor), or swim or do some exercises, I feel so wonderful that I always wonder why I had to prod myself into action.

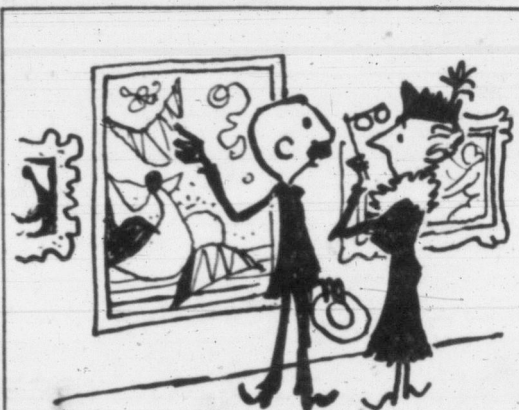

The feeling of aliveness and lack of tension is very rewarding!

Wife Has Purse Strings Is Husband's Complaint

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When one member of the family insists upon holding the family purse strings, it is likely to cause hard feelings. That is what happened in the case of the man who wrote:

Hurlock

(Q)—"Right after we were married, 17 years ago, I gave my wife my pay cheque as she wanted to handle the family bills. She used to give something every week for my own needs, clothes, lunches, car fare, etc. Now, of course, I earn more than I did then, but our expenses are greater because we have three children. My wife still asks for my pay cheque every week and still gives me money for spending. I admit she is perfectly fair in what she gives me, but I still rather resent having her handle the family finances and giving me a hand-out from the money I earn."

"I think a man should take charge of the family finances, especially when he earns the money. Whenever I bring up the subject, she says she is a better manager than I am, and I admit she is right here. But I still feel I should hold the family purse strings, don't you?"—D. H.

(A)—If you are willing to admit that you are not as good a manager as your wife, I think you are very foolish to want to have the family purse strings in your hands. True, it might bolster your masculine ego, but it might really mean that the entire family would suffer. Is this worth the ego-bolstering?

Why, feeling as you do about the matter, did you ever start to turn over your pay cheque to your wife after marriage? Also, why did you wait 17 years to try to get the family purse strings back into your hands? In all these years, you admit your wife has done a good job of managing the family income. Why, then, do you want to take the job away from her now?

In most families, it is true, the man handles the money and allots a certain amount for his wife to spend on household and personal needs. However, when this is done, many women and children come out at the little end of the horn.

Men rarely appreciate how much it takes to run a home, clothe a family, and pay doctors, dentists and other necessary bills. When a woman is running the home, she discovers how much it costs and learns to buy as economically as possible. As long as a husband is getting what he considers his fair share of the family income, I cannot see why he complains when his wife wants to handle the finances and does a good job of it.

Bazaar Shower—It was announced by convener Mrs. L. C. McKay at meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Pro Patria Branch No. 31, Canadian Legion, that the shower for the bazaar had brought in a large variety of knitted goods and sewing. Mrs. W. P. Trace presided and Mrs. Jessie Vasheressa was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. D. Muir reported on the district zone council at Nanaimo and it was announced that the auxiliary's honorary president, Mrs. J. Ricketts, would shortly celebrate her 90th birthday. A Thanksgiving tea is planned in the clubroom, 625 Courtney Street, on Oct. 14, at 2 p.m. Mrs. J. Smith is convener and there will be a home cooking stall and a door prize. Mrs. I. Bridgeman won the evening prize.

GIRL GUIDES

Gordon Head—District commissioner Mrs. F. G. P. Maurice enrolled three Brownies at the joint meeting of Gordon Head Guides and Brownies held recently. They were Lynne Curtis, Gloria Smith and Sally Andrews. First-year stars were presented to Diane Urchison, Carol Lambbrick and Sharon Rossion before they went up to the guide company. Mrs. Maurice pinned Brownie wings on Ann Sparshatt and she "flew up" to guides. The district commissioner was assisted by Brown Owl Mrs. R. Heryet, Brown Owl and Mrs. Joan Lambbrick, Tawny Owl, Capt. Miss A. M. Williamson and Lieut. Miss Diane Dunnett received the Brownies. Mrs. J. M. Baldock, president of the Gordon Head Local Association, presented Miss Williamson with a Union Jack for the guide company.

in new tests at women's clinic!

Irritation, Hot Flashes, Weakness, Nervousness
Strikingly Relieved in Case After Case!

A well-known scientist at a women's clinic has reported results of a test that can mean new relief from discomfort for many women suffering the miseries of "change of life." In the tests, case after case was relieved . . . including nervous symptoms, "hot flashes." The striking results are credited entirely to the medicine used . . . a well-known medicine you can take at home . . . Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!

Chances are you may get the same grand relief with the same medicine. Thousands of others have found that Pinkham's Comound and Tablets have remarkable power to relieve functionally-caused distress of "change of life." Yes . . . these famous medicines act through the sympathetic nervous system to relieve that discomfort. So why suffer needlessly from the miseries of "change of life"? Start taking Lydia Pinkham's today! See if nervous tension doesn't subside! See if you can't escape most of the suffocating "hot flashes" that make middle-life so hard to bear! Get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound . . . or new Tablets which have blood-improving iron added.

ALBERTA (CPI)—Crude oil production in Alberta topped 418,488 barrels a day during the week ended Oct. 3, compared with 412,000 barrels during the previous week. The 1938 average production was 393,838 barrels in the week ended Oct. 3, compared with 418,6 the previous week. The Alberta oil and natural gas Commission board announced Monday.

The sharp drop in output due to producers cutting their wells to keep in line with quotas, a usual month-end procedure.

Despite the sharp cutback in production during the week, production was higher than 11 of the previous 12 weeks. In the same week averaged 235, when output averaged 235, barrel daily.

Top producing field was Le due-woodend with 51,717 barrels. Redwater yielded 47,210 barrels a day, while Pemina held third spot with 32,490 barrels daily.

Crude oil output of other leading oilfields in Alberta during the week: Acheson, 6,884 barrels daily; Bonnie Glen, 18,445; Fenn Elg Valley, 14,264; Golden Spike, 6,674; Jocarden, 10,524; Joffre, 5,787; Stettler, 4,761; Sturgeon Lake, 3,361; Turner Valley, 5,661; West Drummheller, 36,22; Westeros, 2,872; Wizard Lake, 8,793.

During the week ended Oct. 3, there were 5,827 wells operated of being operated in Alberta compared with 5,793 in the week ended Sept. 26, 1935, and 4,921 in the week ended Oct. 4, 1934.

COMMONWEALTH CHECK ON ROYAL ROMANCE?

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—An informed source reports Lord Home, Britain's Commonwealth minister, is due here next Friday to discuss with Prime Minister Kotelawala Ceylon's attitude to the possible marriage of Princess Margaret to Group Capt. Peter Townsend. Lord Home is making a tour of Commonwealth countries.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Vancouver Island CCF Conference takes place at Nanaimo, October 30 and will be attended by delegates of Saanich and Victoria-Oak Bay clubs. Business sessions start at 10 a.m. The public is invited to afternoon sessions. Main speaker will be Roderick Halg-Brown who will speak on the topic, "People, Woods and Wildlife." He will touch on the economic aspects of conservation. A discussion of CCF conservation policies will follow.

It is announced by Fred White at Victoria Public Library. Two clubs are now operating under sponsorship of the Victoria Public Library and Victoria College. For the first time in eight years the foundation has revised its reading lists.

Mrs. L. E. Edwards, Rockland Avenue, was fined $25 and $3.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court Saturday on a charge of driving without spectacles contrary to a license restriction.

Two new groups are planned for organization here this fall by the Great Books Foundation.

Local Schools Place In B.C.-Wide Contest

Victoria, Esquimalt and Mount View High Schools are listed as runners-up in a province-wide contest to find the best high school annual.

Winner was New Westminster's T. J. Trapp Technical High School. The winning school passes out of existence this year since amalgamating with Duke of Connaught High School under the new name Lester Pearson.

The contest is sponsored by a Vancouver newspaper.

Ella Says No Dice; Jacquet Was Faded

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Singer Ella Fitzgerald cried the "blues" twice last night—on stage and at the police station—after a vice squad broke up a crap game in her dressing room.

Vice squad officers wandering among a near-capacity audience at a one-night stand of "Jazz at the Philharmonic" walked into the singer's dressing room just as saxophonist Illinois Jacquet rolled his point.

But the officers, led by vice squad Sgt. W. A. Scott, beat Jacquet to the "pot" and scooped up $185 and the dice.

At the station, Miss Fitzgerald, dressed in a decollete gown of blue taffeta and a mink stole, dabbed at her eyes with a wispy handkerchief.

"I have nothing to say," she said as she was booked for shooting dice. "What is there to say? I was only having a piece of pie and a cup of coffee."

'FRONTAL ASSAULT ON CLICHES'

Marlon Brando, Producer Will Make New Westerns

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marlon Brando is a changed man nowadays. He has become a producer.

The last person this reporter ever expected to see supervising story conferences, casting and all the thousand odd details of picture-making was freedom-loving Brando. But it's true.

"I want to make a frontal assault," he discloses, "on the temple of cliches that have permeated the usual Hollywood Western. Our early day Western heroes were not brave 100 per cent of the time nor were they good 100 per cent of the time."

"I think Stanley Kramer started a good trend toward authentic realism in Westerns with 'High Noon'."

That doesn't mean that Brando's Western will be all art. It will be a combination of intense character delineation, as have all Brando pictures, plus good action.

"There are certain concessions to commercial entertainment that must be made," Brando declares. "After all, it is a business. Even Shakespeare had to insert bawdy humor in some of his plays to cater to the commercial taste of his audience."

"However, the last thing I'll ever be is a strictly commercial producer interested only in money."

"I never will be a quick buck producer."

U.K. Editors Split On Wallis' Memoirs

LONDON (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor's announced intention to publish her memoirs has stirred up lively controversy in the British press.

The duchess found bitter critics and sympathizers in sections of the Sunday press for going ahead with publication of her memoirs. The People, a pro-Labor Sunday newspaper, accuses the duchess of writing the book just to get revenge by "making more disclosures about the Royal Family" for snubbing her. The paper's big front page headline says: "How dare she?"

John Gordon, editor-in-chief of Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express, defended the duchess and declared: "It is right and just" that she should tell her story of the romance with the Duke of Windsor. Gordon, describing the duchess as "that remarkable lady," said he has seen the draft of her memoirs and added:

"It is one of the most moving, dramatic and important stories in all history. And in some details, a surprising one."

47 CARS FOR SALE

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 12, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) - Seeking new methods by which you can gain the good will and respect of all in your own surrounding brings some very worthwhile added income, assets, resources that lighten the whole scope of your activities. Be efficient.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) - Gaining good will of all whom you regard as partners requires that you state your affection in definite terms rather than appearing to desire more favors. Be less intense in gaining your own ends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) - Making changes in your surroundings brings greater sense of peace and security to you. Show others you see their viewpoint and give them benefit of your experience from the past.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) - Look into all statements, reports, documents, newspapers, other periodicals to uncover the specific data you need in your own line of activity. Fine also for increasing charm, beauty, attractiveness. P.M. fine for recreation. Be happy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) - Have you seen how best to gain greater income, enlarged or improved possessions by getting support of your own clan, household? This is fine for making changes that bring you more revenue, income.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) - Now you can raise your sights to larger and more ambitious desires than you've been expressing in the past. It may be necessary to gain the good will of some older or long standing personage. This is yours now for the asking. Be direct.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) - Ferreting out whatever has not been entirely satisfactory to you reveals some practical waste, inept methods that merely require slight changes in order to be highly satisfactory to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) - Exact, but loyal and meticulous friend becomes aware now of your long-standing obligations and the goals toward which you are headed. Show you will co-operate and a wealth of happiness is now given you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) - Forgetting those big, comprehensive ambitions that require considerable amount of daydreaming gives you chance to gain support of officials, executives, authorities so you can later place broad aims into effect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) - Forgetting your usual haunts, preoccupations in entirely new standpoint that brings success from anxieties is extremely good for you. Devoted friend, though sometimes tiresome, adds to your success if you will listen to his advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) - Being still long enough to have advantage of your own accurate intuitive processes brings to the surface your own answer to riddles that have been lurking you of late. Apply them in worldly as well as personal and financial situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) - Much chit-chat, conversation with all about you makes you see that you are acquiring more knowledge, understanding than you had thought possible. Get off to new sites, read newspapers closely. Then you round out knowledge essential to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY...
Wednesday's child is one of those very precise and detail-conscious youngsters who will like to have his, or her, clothing and toys in their own particular place from early days. You will find that you can trust your offspring to carry through whatever has been once agreed upon for the motto of this chart is "TO SERVE." Try to have light, airy surroundings since there is tendency to gloom and depression resulting from over-consciousness. Fine chart for work involving design, shops, prophylactics, personnel vocations.

'DITHERING' CRITICIZED

Eden Under Fire From Tory Papers

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden came under fire Monday from his own ranks for dithering a decision on government changes.

The Daily Mail and The Daily Telegraph, newspapers which consistently support the Conservative party, say they are puzzled by Eden's determination to stand pat on his present team.

"His explanation... seems somewhat unconvincing," says The Daily Mail. The Daily Telegraph, making a similar criticism, goes on to say that Conservatives want a clear-cut lead on domestic policy.

The annual conference which ended at Bournemouth Saturday demonstrated, the paper says, that the "frank and file of the Conservative party, now a politically mature movement with no temptation to sycophancy, do not believe that skillful administration and ad hoc courage are substitutes for a coherent policy."

PROMPTED BY SPEECH

The comments arise principally from Eden's speech at Bournemouth after the conference ended Saturday. In it, he said he does not want to change his government while certain economic measures are in the making.

This spiked reports of cabinet changes that most British newspapers have published in the last three months. Now it looks as though the much-mooted shuffle is off until November or December.

Some independent commentators accused Eden of "dithering."

One other comment emerges from the Conservative conference. These gatherings are usually tame affairs, but this year there was some plain speaking and observers think this may indicate the party is slowly changing. What used to be a political movement based on big business and the landed gentry now is broadening.

As the differences between classes become blurred under such influences as full employment and the Tory brand of welfare capitalism, the Conservatives are drawing support from voters who in the past tended to favor more radical parties. "Postwar Conservatism," says Douglas Brown in the News Chronicle, a Liberal paper, "has gained most of its virility from the lower middle-class, professional and small business folk, who lost under Labor their position of superiority over the industrial worker."

B.C. TREATMENT UNFAIR-BENNETT

posal as far as B.C. is concerned," he declared.

The premier said B.C.'s counter-proposal was for a 77-23 split of all income tax returns. The province's 23 per cent would include all rental payments, and bonuses and subsidies to the "have-not" provinces.

This would cost the federal government $600,000,000 a year, $141,000,000 more than under the existing tax rental pact.

Premier Bennett said this could be done without raising taxation, and without cutting defence expenditures.

"While war expenditures are high in Canada, they are not increasing," he said. "But we are getting expanding revenues from an expanding economy."

COST NO MORE

He said B.C.'s plan "would not cost the federal treasury a cent more than it costs now, considering the new income from this expanding economy."

The premier said the conference "did not get down to brass tacks—all they did was talk about theory, theory, theory." He said this was good reason for holding all future conferences in full view of the public, opening the doors to the press.

"FRUSTRATING"

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, another member of the B.C. delegation, termed the conference "frustrating." He said "the federal cabinet appeared to be split on the question of how little to give the provinces."

The premier told eastern newsmen the conference was a fiasco, and was accused of snubbing Prime Minister St. Laurent by leaving to catch a train instead of attending a dinner given by the prime minister.

"We were lunched to death," the premier commented. He said the conference was over on Friday afternoon—"they were meeting to draft a press release, and since there wasn't much done, there wasn't much to prepare."

PINK TEAS

He said he had to catch a train home on Friday afternoon or stay over another three days. "I don't think the taxpayers of B.C. would want me to waste their money going to pink teas," he commented.

Premier Bennett said there is no bitterness between the federal government and the B.C. government as a result of the conference.

"But I want to make it quite clear that the expanding economy of this province is not dependent on the whims of Ottawa," he said.

"I don't want to be unfair, but the Liberal government at Ottawa reminds me of Coalition in its last days—weak, no sense of direction, no policies for the post-war period."

SUMMARY

Here is a summary of the premier's views of the conference: B.C. asked for a 50-50 split on a health plan. We met no co-operation.

B.C. recommended federal participation in a public investment program. Nothing was achieved.

B.C. recommended tax agreements which would provide more appropriate division of income, both personal and corporate, and succession duties revenue. We were met with a negative response.

B.C. recommended provisions of the Municipal Improvement

Assistance Act of 1938 be again made operative, to give municipalities funds at two per cent interest for construction of self-liquidating projects, with federal loans guaranteed by the provinces. Ottawa's answer was no.

Vic West United Church To Purchase Pipe Organ

Decision to purchase and install a pipe organ in memory of the pioneers and war dead of the church was made at a special meeting of the congregation of Victoria West United Church Monday evening.

The organ will replace the present reed instrument which has been in use since the church was built in 1912.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Presidential aide Harold E. Stassen optimistically predicted today that the major world powers will reach a "well-inspected, soundly controlled agreement" for international arms reduction.

Arson Suspected

VANCOUVER (UP)—Fire wardens said today that two week-end blazes here appeared to be the work of arsonists. One fire occurred in a lumber yard and the other in a private garage.

Wants Russia to Pay

LONDON (AP)—Adrian M. Conan Doyle, son of the creator of Sherlock Holmes, says the Russians owe the Doyle family $1,400,000 in unpaid royalties. Doyle said 10,000 copies of his father's books have been published in Russia over the last few years, and that it has all been "quite unauthorized." He said Holmes is extremely popular in the U.S.S.R.

Denies Accusation

CALGARY (CP)—Dean Bandiera, suspended Calgary Stampeder football player, today denied accusations that he had allegedly disclosed some of his team's plays to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. "I'm innocent of everything they accuse me of," Bandiera said. (See Sports Page.)

Navy Chief Retiring

OTTAWA (CP)—Commodore Arthur C. M. Davy, 52, engineer-in-chief and deputy chief of naval technical services at naval headquarters, will go on retirement leave Oct. 17. The navy announced Friday he will retire June, 1956 after 39 years in the navy. Commodore Davy, native of Westmount, Que., helped with the design and development of the navy's new anti-submarine destroyer escorts.

Troops Fly to Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—Britain today ordered troop reinforcements to Cyprus. The reinforcements are to be sent to the island, which is being held by British troops, after the "expected marriage" of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sir William Slim, Australia's present governor-general who completes his tour of duty next year, is quoted by The News as saying that his successor "will be someone much more charming than I."

AUSTRALIAN POST FOR QUEEN MOTHER?

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News says Queen Mother Elizabeth is expected to become governor-general of Australia next year.

In a dispatch from London, The News quotes palace sources as saying the Queen Mother intends to leave for Australia after the "expected marriage" of Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sir William Slim, Australia's present governor-general who completes his tour of duty next year, is quoted by The News as saying that his successor "will be someone much more charming than I."

Unorganized Clerks Fight 6-Day Shopping

Unorganized sales clerks in Victoria have gone on record opposing any move toward six-day shopping for this area.

A six-day week for business clerks would be a step backward, chairman of the non-union Five-Day Action committee, P. C. McEwan, said in a weekend statement.

He said sales clerks are among the lowest-paid workers and would like to have more take-home pay.

"How can we hope to if our employer is forced to open six days a week, thus increasing his operating costs?"

WANT 5 DAYS

Victoria clerks now operate on the five-and-a-half day shopping day week, which unorganized clerks wish to see reduced to five days.

"The merchants who favor our present system of five-and-a-half days weekly should realize that the five-day week for clerks is imminent," Mr. McEwan said.

Merchants don't want the six-day week any more, he went on, and suggested businessmen and organized clerks take note of the "involved situation" in Vancouver before they "jump right into it."

Vancouver's shopping system (6-day shopping since 1953) created "nothing but confusion and dissatisfaction for all concerned," the chairman said.

Guides, Brownies Warmly Welcome Princess Royal

OTTAWA (CP)—The Princess Royal Monday made two inspections, one scheduled and the other not on the official program.

The latter came at the National Gallery, where some 200 Girl Guides and Brownies were grouped near the entrance.

The children gave her such a vociferous welcome that when the Princess left the gallery she spent about five minutes with them, passing up and down their semi-circle and stopping at one point to chat with eight-year-old Annette Stiles.

The official inspection was on Parliament Hill where a guard of honor of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals was drawn up. The Princess and the guard are becoming well acquainted because she had inspected it twice before at Kingston, Ont., last week.

PM Promises Decision 'Soon' On Wheat Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he will make a decision on wheat aid for farm-stored grain within a few days.

He said he was making up his mind in a reasonably short time, he told reporters when asked whether the government will provide the aid sought by western farmers.

Headed by the three prairie agriculture ministers, spokesmen for virtually the entire prairie farm economy gathered in Mr. St. Laurent's office to seek aid in providing producers with low-cost loans or cash advances on a huge pileup of grain on western farms.

Hunters Fined

Fines were imposed on three hunters when they appeared before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in RCMP court last week.

Rupert S. Goddard, 763 Gladia, and George William Bryant, 1070 Burnside, were each fined $15 and $3 costs on charges of carrying firearms without licences.

Donald James Mooney, 363 Robertson, was fined $10 and $3 costs on a charge of carrying an air pistol without a permit.

Toronto Stock Prices Copy Wall St. Tumble

TORONTO (CP)—Prices fell sharply on the Toronto stock exchange today following Monday's third major break on the New York market in three weeks.

Canadian exchanges were closed Monday for Thanksgiving.

All sections moved lower with losses in industrials running to about $5. Westons and Ford A headed the losers.

A number of senior mines lost $1 or more, including International Nickel, which fell $4 to $69.

Molotov Denies Retirement Plans

MOSCOW (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov told newsmen Monday night "there is no question of my retirement."

Mainland Farmer Shot In Mistake for Deer

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)—Farmer A. Christiansen was shot in the shoulder Monday when a hunter mistook him for a deer.

RCMP said the farmer was walking in a field when the shooting occurred. He was in fair condition at Langley hospital.

Still Missing

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—Lawyer John Ewing of Princeton was still missing Monday night on a hiking trip in mountainous country near here, 120 miles east of Vancouver.

'NOTHING OFFENSIVE'

City Author Puzzled About Book Dispute

Victoria author William A. Plenderleith today defended his novel, "Conflict," against charges that it is obscene and anti-Christian.

He said he is puzzled by a controversy in Flesherston, Ont., over his and four other library books.

Mr. Plenderleith is coordinator of services in the department of education and lives at 1139 Rockland.

The charges were levelled last week by former reeve of Flesherston, Ont., John Cook.

He listed five books on the shelves of the local library he claimed were "obscene, anti-Christian and not fit reading for my teen-aged daughter."

PAY FINES

He said he had taken out all five and would continue to pay fines on them rather than return them.

Included was Mr. Plenderleith's book, "Conflict."

"As far as my book is concerned, it was published by Ryerson Press, who publish mostly biblical stories—and would certainly handle nothing offensive," said Mr. Plenderleith.

He said his book concerns the era of the American Revolution and the United Empire Loyalists. He said in one sequence, an army deserter is attracted to a refugee woman.

NO ASSAULT

He said the deserter takes hold of the woman, but there is no assault. He thinks this may be the section opposed by Mr. Cook.

The other books under fire by Mr. Cook were "The Lamp Is Heavy" and "The Living Earth" by Sheila Mackay Russell, "Catherine" by Anya Seton, and

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH

ZONING BY-LAW

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons who deem themselves affected by the provisions of the proposed "The Zoning By-law 1941, Amendment No. 13," of The Corporation of the District of Saanich, will be afforded an opportunity to be heard on the matter contained therein, before the Municipal Council, at a public hearing to be held in the Council Chamber, Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, on Monday, October 17th, 1955, at 4:00 p.m.

A copy of the proposed By-law may be inspected at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, between the hours of nine a.m. and five o'clock p.m. on any weekday, except Saturday.

The above amendment will have the effect of removing the following:

(a) All lots fronting on Green Ridge Crescent in Registered Plan 10488 as a residential area permitting the erection of dwellings containing not less than 1,000 sq. ft. floor space.

(b) Property surrounding and in the immediate vicinity of Prospect Lake as a residential area permitting the erection of dwellings containing not less than 800 sq. ft. floor space.

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN THAT

The Hearing authorized by August 28th, 1955, in respect to the application to remove Lot 1, Sections 24 and 25, Lake District, Plan 806 situated at the southeast corner of Cordova Bay Road and Community Road, from residential to commercial use, will be resumed at the above-mentioned public hearing.

SPCA WILLING TO RUN DOG POUND FOR CITY

Victoria SPCA inspector, Edward Hayward, has commended the suggestion of Ald. Brent Murdoch that his organization should do the work of the city pound.

He said it is a "very logical conviction" and would eliminate duplication.

"We are well qualified to do the work on a sound and practical basis."

He said the SPCA is willing to put a workable plan before council.

Ald. Murdoch's suggestion stemmed from discussions in council concerning a civic grant to the SPCA, which is still unsettled.

'Enemy' Holds Genoa Bay In War Games

DUNCAN (CP)—A Canadian force failed to dislodge an invading enemy force from its position at Genoa Bay during a combined Vancouver Island sea cadets and army cadets exercise "Little Tempest" Saturday and Sunday.

Cadets from Royal Canadian Sea Cadets Corps Rainbow represented the enemy, who were in position in the vicinity of Genoa Bay farm, with guns overlooking Cowichan Bay.

The Canadian force comprised cadets from 193 battery, and sea cadets from Cougar and Admiral Mainguy corps.

The mock attack was launched from landing craft and power cruisers acting as navy warships.

Lawyer Has Auto Accident On Way to Defend Client

SOOKE—A Victoria lawyer, on his way to Sooke police court Saturday to defend a client, charged with careless driving, had an accident himself.

W. J. Moresby left Sooke Road, near Cooper's Cove, and hit a private mail box before coming to rest. Main damage to the vehicle was a badly dented door.

His client, William Chard, was charged after his car struck the Roche Cove bridge, on Gillespie Road.

He pleaded not guilty, and the charge was dismissed by Magistrate Fred Thomson on the grounds that insufficient evidence had been presented, and that there was reasonable doubt that the accident had come about through carelessness on Chard's part.

Fuel, pleaded guilty to a charge of employing a driver who was not properly licensed, and was fined $10 and costs.

Harry Musfeldt, Sooke logger, appearing on a charge of not having fire tools at the site of his logging operations in East Sooke during the fire season, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

It was decided, however, to give all ratepayers copies of pertinent regulations, then hold another meeting at which a final vote may be taken.

Action was taken as a result of protests that followed the announcement that a mainland firm intended to build a reduction, fallow, and chicken feed plant in the district.

Judgment Reserved In Timber Tax Case: Judgment in the case of the C. W. Logging Co., which appealed against an income tax assessment on the sale of timber at Nanos Bay, was reserved by the Exchequer Court here Friday.

The company appealed a tax appeal board decision which ruled that profits from the sale of timber on a parcel of property in 1950 were liable for income tax assessments.

$750,000 BY LAW

Public to Hear School Plans

BRENTWOOD—A public meeting to review the School District 63 $750,000 school construction by-law will be held Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. at the Women's Institute Hall here.

DUNCAN PLAN UNDER REVIEW BY CABINET

DUNCAN—Trustees of Cowichan School District 63 gave their approval Friday to a $650,000 school loan by-law that went before the provincial cabinet today for final approval for presentation to ratepayers.

Ratepayers will vote on the by-law Nov. 19, when G. F. Dyson, school board secretary, will be returning officer.

Highlights of the by-law are 18 new elementary school classrooms and a high school for the south end of the district.

Plane Batters Parked Cars In High Wind

CAMPBELL RIVER—A private aircraft that ripped loose from its moorings at the B.C. Air Lines hangar on Campbell River spit in a storm Saturday morning knocked over a fence and landed on three parked cars.

The cars were more heavily damaged than the plane.

Wind speeds reached 75 miles per hour in the storm, and electric power was disrupted several times as trees fell across transmission lines.

Many seiners at the government wharf broke their moorings, but wharfinger Alex Thomson was able to warn crews in time to prevent damage. Small boats were tossed about behind the breakwater.

Garden Awards Won by Island Railway Workers

PARKSVILLE—E. Brand, E. & N. Railway section Foreman at Combs, won first prize in the CPR track maintenance men's garden competition in the class for visible old gardens.

A. Nowakowski, Port Alberni, led the Vancouver Island division for visible new gardens, and S. A. Ellner, Langford, won a prize in the section for gardens not visible from the right-of-way.

Duncan Plowing Match Postponed

DUNCAN—A plowing match set for Saturday at the Cowichan Bay farm of E. L. Robson was called off because of rain and wind.

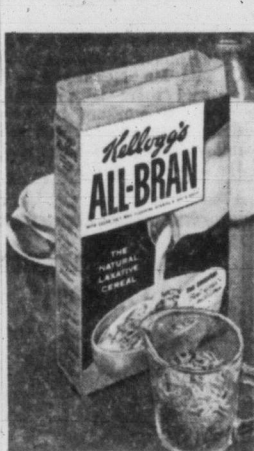

Although there was a good turnout of tractors and horse teams, and the tractor drivers were willing to compete, the horses refused to face into the biting wind and kept turning in the furrow.

Cowichan Agricultural Society, sponsor of the event, will hold a meeting this week to discuss arrangements for a new match. The contest was revived last year by the society after a lapse of many years.

IRREGULAR?

You owe it to yourself to try Kellogg's All-Bran and milk as an aid to health and regularity. Here is a safe, natural way to help improve your "intestinal tone"—so essential to comfortable regularity.

All-Bran, made from whole-some, good-tasting whole wheat contains natural food bulk which helps correct the cause of constipation, due to insufficient bulk. All-Bran is also an excellent source of niacin (necessary for normal body functioning).

There is only one All-Bran, Kellogg's. Famous for nearly 40 years as the original natural laxative cereal, it is milled for maximum effectiveness. We'll prove to you that All-Bran with milk will give you gentle relief from irregularity within 10 days or double your money back.

That's a promise from Kellogg's, London, Ontario.

Do you love to read in bed—but find it difficult because the lighting is poorly placed? Then follow either of these two recipes and read for hours without eye strain!

If you are using a table lamp the bedside table on which it rests should be about 28" high. For reading comfort, your lamp shade should be approximately 16" wide and the bottom edge should be 20" above your bed mattress.

If you prefer a wall lamp, see that it's centered above your bed at a height of about 30 inches from the bottom of the shade to the bed mattress. Check that the shade is about 13 inches wide at the bottom. For both these lighting recipes, use the 50/100/150 three-life bulb.

Just put your G-E Sunlamp into a standard 60 cycle AC or DC light socket—then sit and bask in those warm relaxing rays. This popular Sunlamp gives you a sleek, radiant tan almost as cheaply as the sun does. Only $13.25. Why not pick up a G-E Sunlamp today?

New Zealand Social Crediters Held as 'Nuisance Value' Only

Social Credit is of "nuisance value" in New Zealand's political picture, according to Alex McKenzie, president of that country's National (Conservative) party.

During a brief visit to Victoria at the week-end, Mr. McKenzie said New Zealand residents "are too realistic to elect a Social Credit government."

"As far as we are concerned, Social Credit has only got a nuisance value," he said.

Mr. McKenzie has been president of the ruling Nationalist party for five years.

FOLLOWS SOCRD

Visit of the party president to Victoria followed by a few weeks the visit of W. B. Owen, leader of New Zealand's Social Credit party, which polled 11 per cent of the vote in the last general election, the first time the party had contested the vote.

Mr. McKenzie said half the Socred vote, according to a reliable poll, was a protest vote. He said much of it came from farmers who thought the National government had not sufficiently reduced taxation.

"In actual fact, the government has reduced taxation by more than $100,000,000 in the past four years," he said.

Other Socred votes came from Labor supporters who did not agree with their party's efforts, and from manufacturers who felt too many imports were being allowed into the country.

"The genuine feeling is that the government is doing a good job," said Mr. MacKenzie.

He said there is an acute shortage of workers in New Zealand, with about 27,000 job openings, and the cost of living is the lowest in the world.

What's news at Inco?

HOW THE NEW FLASH SMELTING PROCESS OPERATES—First, Inco installed a $2,000,000 plant to separate oxygen from the air—325 tons of it a day! Oxygen, piped from this plant, plus finely ground copper concentrate and flux are blown into a specially designed furnace and the mixture is ignited. Heat from the burning sulphur and iron smelts the ore and the molten copper matte is drawn off. In this process, sulphur and oxygen combine to form sulphur dioxide (SO₂). The sulphur dioxide is liquefied and sold for use in Canada's pulp and paper mills.

INCO RESEARCH HELPS STRENGTHEN CANADA'S ECONOMY

NEW FLASH SMELTING PROCESS SAVES 65,000 TONS OF COAL A YEAR

IN the production of copper at Inco, smelting operations used to require approximately 65,000 tons of imported coal every year.

Now, Inco is smelting copper concentrates without coal. A patented flash smelting process, developed after years of Inco research and extensive pilot plant tests, produces copper matte more economically than ever before.

The principle of the new flash smelting process is based on the fact that sulphur and iron, when combined with sufficient oxygen, will burn with an intense heat.

Since the ores mined at Sudbury contain high percentages of both sulphur and iron, Inco devised this method of smelting the ore.

In the flash smelting process, Inco employs hydro-electric power to freeze oxygen from the air. Coal is no longer necessary and sulphur is recovered as liquid sulphur dioxide. Hence, Inco's production costs are lower. Like so many other developments of Inco research the new flash smelting process has helped strengthen Canada's economic position in the world today.

Yeggs Get $25,000 in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Safe-crackers who broke into Pacific General Motors Corporation Ltd. during the week-end got an estimated $25,000 in cheques and cash, police reported today. Bulk of the loot was in cheques.

The job was identical to one July 16 when yeggs took $24,000 from the same firm.

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles today drew up an "interim reply" to Russian Prime Minister Bulganin's disarmament proposals.

The letter was drafted during a 25-minute conference in Eisenhower's hospital room and was signed almost immediately by the president. Dulles told a press conference that it would be made public as soon as it has been received in Moscow.

'Pay-off' Allegation
Renewed at Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—A grey-haired detective-sergeant, with a clean record of 50 years of police work in his family, testified today that "a lot of men would have been in on it" to justify a $38,000 payoff to a police chief.

Det. Sgt. Bob Leatherdale returned to the witness stand as the Tupper royal commission into police affairs opened its 31st sitting. He was cross-examined by John G. (Jay) Gould, counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan, on evidence given five days ago by Helen Elizabeth Douglas, who said that the chief told her in 1949 that he had received $38,000 in payoff money from gamblers.

The sergeant said there was a great deal of money around in gambling circles five years ago and that he had raised cigar stands which had $2,000 on the premises.

Sgt. Leatherdale testified under cross-examination that he was unsure of what was going on when, he said, Chief Mulligan approached him with a scheme for setting up a payoff system in the bootlegging underworld.

He said he was certain "something was wrong" when the chief's proposition was followed up by Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert, who gave him details of how such a payoff was worked on the gambling squad.

"Until Cuthbert came to me, I didn't know what the chief was driving at," Sgt. Leatherdale said.

In his earlier testimony the sergeant said the police chief had offered to promote him to sergeant in charge of the liquor squad if he would help establish a pay-off scheme.

Cross-examining him regarding the Cuthbert interview, Mr. Gould said:

"Then you put the two things together and you said 'that's all I need to know'."

"Yes," Sgt. Leatherdale said. Commissioner Tupper adjourned the hearings until 11 a.m. Wednesday after testimony by Leatherdale and three others. Two of the other witnesses testified in connection with the theft of a piggy bank from an apartment. It had been alleged earlier that Mulligan, then a detective, stole the piggy bank while investigating the robbery. Neither of the witnesses could link Mulligan with the disappearance of the piggy bank.

10 Foodless
Days on PlaneSurvivor Watched Partner Perish
On Craft's Wing in Arctic Lake

By STAN McCABE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Rescuers say a flier who huddled for 10 days on a nearly-submerged airplane wing in a Northwest Territories lake was found in the nick of time.

Gerhardt (Jerry) Lozie, 27-year-old co-pilot of the four-engine Associated Airways York ditched in the lake, was flown here Monday night from Beaverlodge, Sask. He was rushed to hospital.

Relatives gave him an emotional welcome—but Lozie, who suffered from exposure of his hands and feet, only murmured replies.

The pilot of the York, Capt. Joseph Cermak, 40, died while Lozie was awaiting rescue. Cermak's family lives in Northern Ireland.

WAS A GRIM DO'—Vern Simmonds, Associated Airways pilot of the DC-3 which located the plane missing since Sept. 29, said: "It was a grim do, I'll tell you. I don't know how that guy survived."

Lozie told Simmonds he did not think he could have survived another of the bitterly cold nights. He had no heat or food for 10 days and had been immersed in the icy water several times.

"If we had missed him that trip he wouldn't be alive today," Simmonds said.

Lozie told him the plane crashed-landed at 10:10 p.m., Sept. 29, and Cermak died about 11:30 p.m., Oct. 1.

"Jerry said the plane hit once and bounced and landed pretty hard the second time," Simmonds said.

Lozie said water flew everywhere. Before they stopped there was already water in the cockpit. He scrambled up to the hatch which had opened, and Cermak was not behind him. He went back and Joe said he couldn't get out. Jerry got him loose. By this time they were both under water. They got out the astro-hatch.

By a surprising vote of 477 to 140, the assembly Sunday approved his plan for home rule in violence-ridden Morocco. The debate before the vote made clear, however, that many of the deputies will be out to oust the premier if he doesn't press on quickly with the promised reforms.

Home rule has already been granted to Tunisia, but no concessions will be made to Algerian nationalism as the troubled North African territory is constitutionally part of France. Tunisia and Morocco are protectorates.

Police killed two North Africans and seriously wounded five others when they opened fire at Douai, in northern France, Sunday night to quell "independence for Algeria" demonstrations.

Meanwhile a French general is to be relieved of his command following incidents in Rouen in which army reservists refused to leave their barracks on the way to North Africa.

Not until early Saturday were they whisked out under cover of darkness to begin their journey.

SUGAR LUMPS
IN 10 DAYS

EDMONTON (CP)—A couple of lumps of sugar put inadvertently into a geologist's pocket gave some nutrition to a flier who was marooned for 10 days without food on a small lake in the Northwest Territories.

Alex Labinsky, one of three American geologists who rescued Gerhardt (Jerry) Lozie, 27, said he put the sugar in his pocket absent-mindedly, or "perhaps it was an act of Providence."

the plane which was headed into the water at a 60-degree angle. But at night the cold was "unbearable."

The search pilot said Lozie told him it was about 15 minutes before he expected to arrive at Yellowknife on the return leg of a flight from a northern radar site that the

Soviet Trade Talks
Resuming in OttawaBy C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson and Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov Monday ended trade talks here which will probably be resumed in Ottawa in a matter of weeks. The outcome of the talks was reported to be quite satisfactory and Russia is expected to send a trade delegation for the continued talks shortly. Mitchell Sharp, assistant deputy Canadian trade minister, will leave here for Ottawa today.

No official statement on the talks has been released but it was learned that Canada is offering to Russia what it does to other countries willing to trade. No barrier or special clearance deals are being considered because this would be contrary to Canadian policy.

At the luncheon Pearson told the Russians Canada is willing to serve as a bridge between the USSR and the United States. He was told by Molotov that this would be a great responsibility.

Mr. Pearson, meanwhile, had left Moscow's airport for a Vancouver—Last hour sales: 100 Inland Steel at $3.25, 25 B.C. meeting in the south with Russia's two highest leaders, Premier Bulganin and Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Krushchev. The Canadian minister was to stop in Stalingrad for lunch and then proceed to the meeting place in the Crimea near Yalta.

No official statement on the talks has been released but it was learned that Canada is offering to Russia what it does to other countries willing to trade. No barrier or special clearance deals are being considered because this would be contrary to Canadian policy.

Esquimalt Frogmen
Locate Girl's Body

VANCOUVER—Two teen-agers whose car plunged off a wharf and into the Fraser River were among eight persons who died violently on the B.C. mainland during the Thanksgiving holiday week-end. No fatalities were reported from Vancouver Island.

The holiday toll for all Canada was 70—51 killed in traffic accidents, five by drowning, and 14 by miscellaneous causes. Body of Mary Margaret Elmore, 16, of New Westminster was in the automobile recovered Sunday night by HMCS Naden divers, flown from Esquimalt. No sign was found of her companion Ronald J. Douglas, 19, of Port Coquitlam.

The RCN divers—Lieut. Lawrence Chafney, Petty Officers William Fern and Edward Dalton—now are at Revelstoke to salvage a sunken car from a lake. Victim of the Revelstoke accident was Mrs. John Lowndess, 17, of Penticton. Her husband and two companions swam to safety.

Other holiday victims in B.C. included: Thomas Galozo, 72, killed by a car in North Vancouver, Saturday night; James Keith Duggan, 30, who died in Kelowna, Sunday night four hours after a car crash; An old-age pensioner, not yet identified, burned to death in his one-room shack near Prince George, Monday; Bodies of three men missing since Oct. 1 were found in a car recovered Monday night from the Skeena river 50 miles from Prince Rupert. Only body identified by police was that of Gary Duncan, 26, Prince Rupert insurance salesman.

1,500 Loggers
Gather Here

Registration for one of the biggest conventions ever to hit Victoria started today.

More than 1,500 loggers and forest industry executives from all parts of the Pacific Northwest and several distant areas, such as Suva and Nairobi, are converging for the 46th Pacific Logging Congress.

Registration opened in the Empress Hotel this afternoon and advance bookings indicate that, with wives, the congress will bring close to 2,000 visitors to the capital.

All sessions will be held in the Royal Theatre where the president, James C. Sheasgreen vice-president of Canadian Western Lumber Co. Ltd., Vancouver, will call the congress to order at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Delegates will be welcomed by Education Minister Ray Williston and Mayor Claude Harrison. PLC vice-president Herbert W. McMahon, Ralph L. Smith Lumber Co., Anderson, Calif., will respond to the addresses of welcome.

"Logging for maximum utilization, congress theme, has taken on a new significance in recent years," said Mr. Sheasgreen today.

A daily attraction will be a big B.C. equipment show in the government parking lot, taking up half the space there.

Featured will be $750,000 worth of modern timber-handling equipment—the complete range.

A program of entertainment for delegates and wives has been arranged by the British Columbia Lumbermen's Association of the PLC. Highlights of the program include a pre-convention "get together" tonight; a ladies' fashion show Wednesday; "Congress Capers" Thursday in the Crystal Garden, and the annual dance Friday in the Empress.

The federal government told us that the rentals they gave us five years ago, they are not prepared to give now. They said the deal they made with John Hart, (former B.C. premier), was a mistake."

The premier said that the federal proposals would give Quebec "from federal taxes collected all over Canada, a subsidy of $40,000,000 more than it gets now, without increasing its tax rates."

"B.C. would lose about $7,000,000," said Premier Bennett. "It was a most unsound or-

B.C. Received Unfair Treatment
At Ottawa Says Premier Bennett

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today accused the federal government of singling out British Columbia for unfair treatment at last week's Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa.

"I regret to have to say that British Columbia is very disappointed in the outcome of the deliberations," said the premier.

"Our delegation felt B.C. was being unfairly dealt with—we were singled out. The federal government wants to take away from us that position we now hold."

The premier was referring to the fact that B.C. is now getting preferential treatment under the existing tax rental agreements.

This is the result of B.C.'s early entry in to the fields of personal and corporation income taxes. Premier Bennett said the income tax fields "are more valuable to B.C. than to any other province, because of its terrain, and climate, which by their nature increase social services costs, and other government expenditures."

"That principle has been recognized in all agreements," said Premier Bennett.
